RUHR BARRED FROM MAKING WAR MATERIAL

West Sets Up Strict International Control System Over Area.

LONDON, Dec 28—(AP)—The western powers set up today a strict international control system to bar Germany's industrial Ruhr valley from war production

The Ruhr was ordered to produce solely for peace.

Their decision was announced in a formal communique as the climax of a six-week conference here attended by representatives of the United States, Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg

It contained no admission of Russia as a partner in the international control board to be known as the "Ruhr authority."

An American spokesman told a news conference at the embassy the agreement probably will go into operation in two or three months. He said a military security board provided for in the agreement also will begin functioning within that time The spokesman said the Americans regard the pact as an executive agreement which will not need congressional approval, as a formal treaty would

The agreement offered Germany a place on the board as soon as it develops a legal government The Germans will have three votes—the same as the United States, Britain and France will have and two more than each of the Benelux countries which it overran in World War II.

It set up an international system of inspection—the framework of an industrial police—to keep the Ruhr from becoming once again a war-making industrial machine as it did under Hitler and Kaiser Wilhelm.

Ownership Not Decided

It left unsettled the dynamite-laden question of ultimate ownership of the Ruhr's industries—a plain concession to France.

The French want international ownership. Britain prefers German public ownership. The United States favors private enterprise.

The agreement was for an indefinite term, leaving open the possibility the Ruhr might forever continue under international supervision.

This, too, was a concession to the French—often the victim of German aggression—who argued with success that Germany's industrial might was developed in the coal, coke and steel production of the Ruhr's concentrated industries

The communique said the meeting was "held in a friendly atmosphere throughout," and that it "carefully examined all aspects of the problems involved."

The communique announced the conference's "threefold objectives".

1 "To assure the disarmament and demilitarization of Germany."

2. "To further the recovery of the countries of Europe, including a democratic Germany."

3 "To promote that intimate association of their economic life which in the last analysis alone can assure a peaceful and prosperous Europe."

Rules Stipulated

The communique laid down firmly these basic rules over future control of the Ruhr:

1. "There shall not be allowed to develop or be restored any pattern of ownership in the Ruhr coal, coke or steel industries, or trade and marketing agreements among such industries, which would constitute excessive concentration of economic power."

2. "Persons who have been, or may be, found to have furthered the aggressive designs of the National Socialist party (Nazis) do not hold positions of ownership or control" in the Ruhr's basic industries

Neither the communique nor the agreement contained any specific reference to plans for setting up a system of international police to patrol the Ruhr plants Diplomatic sources said this will be done under the "Ruhr authority."

The agreement said that the decision shall.

1. "Ensure adequate access to supplies of those products by countries cooperating in the common economic good, taking into account the essential needs of Germany"

This would seem—at least on the surface—to limit distribution of those basic raw materials to the countries participating in the European recovery program.

2. "Be in accordance with the terms of any agreement among the occupying powers with respect to the allocation of the coal, coke or steel, which is in force at the time the division is made"

By contrast, this would seem to open the way for participation by the eastern European countries if an accord is reached between Russia and the west.

3. "Be consistent with the objectives set forth in the convention for European economic coop-

Fliers Rescued from Ice Cap

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—(UP)—Twelve castaway American fliers were rescued from the Greenland ice cap today by an Air Force transport plane

Fitted with skis and take-off rockets, a twin-engined C-47 swooped down on the 7,700-foot ice plateau this morning, loaded the stranded fliers aboard and flew back to its Greenland base 270 miles away

The Air Force said all 12 castaways were in good physical shape, although seven of them had been stranded on the ice since Dec. 9

The Air Force said it had been in error in previous announcements that 13 men were stranded on the ice peak.

It had assumed, it said, that two men were aboard a glider which made the last previous rescue attempt, when in reality only one man was aboard Seven men were stranded Dec 9 when their plane was forced down Five others joined them from time to time in unsuccessful rescue operations.

First word of the reported rescue came from the Air Force rescue service here

It said its radio station at Goose Bay, Labrador, had intercepted a radio message from a plane saying all the stranded fliers were removed safely this morning.

The intercepted message said the castaways were snatched from the 7,700-foot plateau by a C-47 transport equipped with skis and take-off rockets

The rescue plane was piloted by Lt. Col Emil G. Beaudry of Westover, Mass., Air Force base.

Balchen Too Late

The Goose Bay message came on the heels of an Air Force announcement that the famed arctic explorer, Col. Bernt Balchan, who arrived in Greenland this morning after a 3,800-mile flight from Alaska to join the rescue operation

Balchen apparently arrived too late to take any active part in the rescue. Still farther behind in the race for the castaways was the Navy's 14,500-ton aircraft carrier, Saipan, which put out of Norfolk, Va., last Saturday to join the rescue efforts.

Latest dispatches from the carrier said it was plodding through heavy North Atlantic seas about 1,000 miles south of the Greenland coast.

The rescue reports wrote finis to a chain of unlucky accidents that began on Dec. 9 when a C-47 military transport with seven men aboard was forced down on a frozen plateau in southwest Greenland.

A glider dispatched hurriedly from Blue West 8 air base 100 miles from the scene crashed on the ice cap a few days later while attempting to remove the stranded men Two fliers aboard the glider joined the marooned party.

Two More Added

Two more pilots were added to the castaways shortly afterward when a B-17 landed on the plateau and was unable to get off again

Last week, the band was raised to 12 in another unsuccessful glider snatch that wrecked the glider and deposited one more flier on the ice

The Air Force summoned the 49-year-old Balchen last week from Alaska, where he was in command of the 10th air-sea rescue unit

Balchen, who was recalled to active duty only a few months ago, arrived in Winnipeg, Canada, yesterday. He flew into Blue West 8 early today with a team of 13 arctic rescue specialists.

The navy was brought into the operation by an Air Force SOS last week. The Saipan, carrying five helicopters, had planned to arrive off the ice cap Wednesday morning, but was delayed by rough seas that damaged the carrier and forced her to slow down to about 10 knots

CAPTAIN OF MERCY CARRIER. The storm-damaged aircraft carrier Saipan pounds at reduced speed toward Greenland for an attempt to pull the 12 marooned airmen from the 7,700-foot ice cap in an isolated part of Greenland. Before the Saipan could reach the scene the 12 were rescued today by a C-47 plane. Capt. Joseph L. Kane, commanding officer of the carrier, is shown on deck of the Saipan.

$200,000 HELD INSUFFICIENT FOR NEEDS NOW

Note Cancellation Will Allow Bonds, Never Issued, To Lapse.

City council unanimously voted last night to kill the old $200,000 City hospital bond issue voted in 1941.

The old hospital bond issue, for which Marionites have never had to pay taxes and for which no bonds were ever issued, was killed by the simple expedient of ordering the auditor to call and redeem the $20,000 hospital improvement note, issued Dec 30, 1946, to keep the bond issue alive

Council also voted to authorize the safety-service director to give its latest and perhaps final offer to three property owners whose failure to come to terms with the city has been holding up construction of the Ququa storm water sewer for the past two months. The offers totaled $6,196.25.

The old hospital bond issue has been the subject of discussion ever since the failure of the $1,000,000 city-county bond issue at the polls last fall It was hinted many times during the past four months that Mayor Dowler and some of his closest advisers were not in accord on what should be done with the old issue. All discussion in the administration, if any really existed, seemed to be ironed out last night.

Mayor Explains Situation

Mayor Dowler addressed council on the administration's feeling concerning the old bond issue. In what he called "his piece for the record" Mayor Dowler said, "In 1941 this bond issue was voted for the purpose of building a fireproof addition to the present city hospital and to remodel the old building. With the coming of the war and material shortage we found it couldn't be built. In 1943 the city and the federal government spent together $178,000 for the present temporary frame addition. I believe the people appreciate by now $200,000 would not get us anything in the way of a fireproof addition. It wouldn't make a patch on remodeling the present building into anything of a modern nature. The people also must realize the present frame addition to the hospital is strictly a temporary building and has definitely limited facilities. We must have a new permanent hospital plant of adequate size here We have a really serious need for a new hospital. The state and federal hospital aid plan will not allow us a dime on our present set-up. As a taxpayer myself I would be reluctant to use this old bond issue for a makeshift addition to the present hospital; sending, as it were, good money after bad."

The mayor advised council if they kept the old bond issue alive some of the money should be spent to renovate the third floor of the present building during the next year so an additional 25 patients could be accommodated.

Speaks for C. of C.

Carl Knirk, chairman of the Marion Chamber of Commerce hospital committee supported Mayor Dowler's stand on the old bond issue. "We'll go along with the mayor on this issue," Knirk told council. "A $200,000 building program at the present hospital wouldn't scratch the surface of the need at present construction prices. The bonds have never been issued, we have never paid taxes on them. We ask you to kill the issue"

In the vote which followed council did just that, by a nine to nothing vote.

After the bond issue was killed the mayor asked council to make sure the people expect no tax reduction because the cost of this bond issue was never added to the tax duplicate as the bonds were never issued.

The $20,000 note of the city of Marion was authorized by council and issued by the mayor and the city auditor to the National City bank Dec. 30, 1946. Purpose of the issue was to keep the then expiring $200,000 bond issue alive. The National City Bank then paid into the city treasury $20,000 for the city's note. The city has since appropriated $400 each year in the past two operating budgets, or a total of $800 to pay the two per cent interest due on the $20,000 note. Payment of the final $200 of interest due on Thursday of this week, will end payments on the note which was cancelled by last night's council action. The original $20,000 will be used to repay the note at the bank.

Second high item on council's lengthy agenda last night was a clarification of the city's position

Ohio Teachers Ask More Pay

Education Association Lists Cost-of-Living Increase in Program.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28—(AP)—The Ohio Education association today was to elect officers and vote on a proposed legislative program which includes cost-of-living increases for teachers.

Miss Margaret Boyd, white-haired Steubenville mathematics teacher with an ever-ready smile, was unopposed for election as president. She will be the second woman elected to head the 101-year-old OEA and the first elected OEA woman since President Margaret Sutherland of Columbus in 1913.

George C. Beery of Columbus, superintendent of Franklin county schools, was unopposed for the association's other top office—the vice presidency.

The executive committee earlier this year advanced Miss Boyd from the vice-presidency to president when the elected president, John J. Young of Rocky River, resigned to go to another state. Beery became vice president then.

The OEA executive committee drafted the legislative program proposals. It asked for a $225 annual pay increase for teachers and a hike of $3 50 per pupil for other school operating costs during the next two years. This will cost an estimated $13,500,000 per year.

Other Recommendations

Other recommendations include an increase in state aid on new school building construction and the purchase of school buses.

To solve the building problem, the committee recommended a reduction in the required 65 per cent favorable vote on bond issues, an increase in the school debt limit from six to eight per cent, an increase in state help for building rehabilitation in low valuation districts of $500,000 per year, an undesignated amount to assist in new building construction and establishment of a school construction planning division in the state education department.

An increase of $3,225,000 per year in state aid for the purchase of school buses also was proposed.

Sylvia Todd, a teacher at Lakewood elementary school, was an other candidate without opposition for office-teacher representative on the OEA executive committee.

Miss Boyd has been active in both the OEA and the National Education association for years. She served on the OEA executive committee for six years before becoming vice president and has served on many NEA committees.

Her two "pet projects" are securing more elementary teachers for Ohio schools and interesting U. S. teachers to work for international peace.

Need Elementary Teachers

For years, she has insisted there will be a critical Ohio teaching situation unless more emphasis is

EGYPT'S PRIME MINISTER SHOT

Assassinated by Member of Moslem Brotherhood; Killer Arrested.

CAIRO, Dec. 28—(AP)—Prime Minister Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha was assassinated this morning.

Police said he was shot by a student disguised as a police officer. They declared the assassin was a member of the Moslem Brotherhood association, a nationalist group recently outlawed by the prime minister.

The slaying occurred in the ministry of interior where the prime minister was on the way to his office. Witnesses said the assassin fired five times at Nokrashy Pasha with a revolver and then tried to shoot himself. The prime minister died five minutes later without uttering a word.

Other persons in the building at the time said the assailant approached Nokrashy Pasha and shook hands with him before drawing the gun

The killer was arrested immediately.

In outlawing the Moslem Brotherhood, the prime minister charged the group with responsibility for violence which caused several deaths. The order followed a series of explosions in Cairo business establishments.

Nokrashy Pasha, 60, had been prime minister most of the time since the end of World War Two Last year he went to the United Nations session in New York to plead Egypt's case for evacuation of British troops from the Suez canal zone.

He sent Egyptian troops into Palestine when the British mandate over the Holy Land ended to combat what he called aggression by "terrorist Zionist gangs"

The Moslem Brotherhood accused him recently of weakness in prosecuting the Palestine campaign.

The slaying will bring a new prime minister to office at a critical point in Egypt's struggle against Israel. The government reported only last night that Israeli troops were continuing attacks against the Egyptian army in southern Palestine.

ARRAIGNMENT SET IN NORTON DEATH

Brundige To Appear in Delaware Court Thursday.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Dec. 28—Thomas B Brundige, 38, of near Norton, indicted last week on counts of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident will be arraigned Thursday in Delaware county common pleas court

He is charged with the hit-skip death of Mrs. Pearl Gilmore, Norton church and school custodian of route 229 the night of Oct 20.

Brundige appeared yesterday before Judge Fred A. McAllister but was without counsel. He was ordered to appear Thursday morning to enter a plea of the indictment after indicating to the court he intended to obtain services of a lawyer.

Indicted on four separate counts of manslaughter including reckless operation, operating with insufficient lights, insufficient brakes and driving an unsafe vehicle, the defendant has refused to talk, County Prosecutor Clyde Lewis indicated today. He has continued to deny any connections with the accident since his arrest and subsequent confinement in the Delaware county jail under $5,000 bond, the prosecutor said.

Yugoslavia Cuts Off Trade with Russia

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA, Dec. 28—(UP)—Yugoslavia cut off all food exports to eastern Europe today and prepared to begin trading her rich stores of copper, zinc, iron ore and timber to the west in return for industrial machinery.

The trade break with Russia and Soviet satellite countries was announced in a major policy speech before the Yugoslav parliament yesterday by Marshal Tito

Tito said Yugoslavia no longer will export any "meat, wheat, oils and other items" to eastern Europe because those nations have violated trade agreements with Yugoslavia as a result of the cominform's ex-communication of the Tito government.

"Concrete economic pressure (from eastern Europe) is increasing," Tito told parliament in presenting the 1949 budget of 181,000,000,000 dinars ($3,750,000,000)."

"If our allies in the countries of the peoples democracies do not want to help us, if they violate agreements and various obligations they have with us, then of course we must sell our raw materials elsewhere to capitalist countries in order to buy the machines needed for mechanization of our mines and heavy industry."

Tito emphasized that "trade is not a matter of influence but merely an exchange of goods" and that Yugoslavia would not fall under the sway of the west because it traded with "western reactionaries."

Yugoslav workers are sure to welcome the ban on food exports to the east, which will increase supplies and lower prices at home. Previously Yugoslavia was hard hit by food exports to the east.

Tito also emphasized that the break with Russia began two years ago when Yugoslavia inaugurated the five-year plan to industrialize the country

"Our basic trouble is that we want to bring socialism and industrialize our country as rapidly as possible, and not remain a backward rural country which only sends out raw materials," he said

"Our country need not remain only a source of raw materials for industrialized states, and buy manufactured goods from them at high prices

"That is the way it was in the past. At the beginning of the five-year plan there were statements from responsible people in the east to the effect that we were to remain only as suppliers of raw materials

"These Marxist wiseacres tried to enforce their distorted views with quotes from Marx and Lenin"

Tito complained that Yugoslavia's rich stores of metals and timber were going to build up the industries of Russia and other cominform countries while they in turn tried to keep Yugoslavia in the status of a colonial territory.

BERNT BALCHEN, famed Arctic flyer, started from Winnipeg yesterday to Greenland in a C-54 carrying a glider and ski equipment to try to rescue the 12 airmen marooned on a Greenalmd ice cap.

Truman Hints At Russ Rift

Won't Elaborate on Disclosure Some Soviets Want End of Cold War.

KANSAS CITY, Dec 28—(AP)—President Truman declined to elaborate today on his disclosure that "certain leaders" behind the Russian iron curtain are anxious to end the "cold war"

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G Ross told reporters Mr. Truman does not intend to name the men within the Soviet government advocating an "understanding" with the United States.

The President's surprise revelation in a luncheon speech yesterday and his new indictment of the Russian government for blocking peace efforts spawned widespread speculation as to whether it heralded new moves on the diplomatic front

Ross said the President told him he had nothing to add to his off-the-cuff luncheon address before approximately 200 Missourians gathered to honor Eddie Jacobson, former partner of Mr Truman in a haberdashery store

The press secretary turned a deaf ear to all inquiries as to whether there was any information indicating a "revolt" within the top ranks of the Russian leadership

Without a prepared manuscript and in the absence of an official White House stenographer, Mr. Truman fired a straight-from-the-hip indictment of the Soviet government for:

1. Refusing to keep the agreement Premier Stalin made at Yalta and Potsdam.

2. Using a "system of morals that are not morals."

3 Opposing agreements which might pave the way for preserving the peace in troubled spots everywhere.

4 Making it clear that "contracts are not sacred" in its dealings with the United States and the western powers

He followed up his most severe castigation yet of controlling powers at Moscow with this statement

"There are certain leaders in the government of that great

Rex Robinson Retires after 31 Years with Glass Company

More than 30 years' association with Marion's industrial activities came to a close today with the retirement of Rex H Robinson former president and general manager of the Marion Glass Manufacturing Co and for the last year executive vice president and general manager of the company's plant

With the exception of two years' service in World War I Mr Robinson has been associated with the company for more than 31 years The first employe hired by the company when it opened for business in March of 1917 he served as bookkeeper and later was given a leave of absence to serve two years in the armed forces as regimental sergeant major in the 306th engineers, most of which was spent overseas.

REX H. ROBINSON

Acquired All Stock

Mr Robinson acquired a small interest in the Glass company in 1928 when the Macbeth-Evans Glass Co of Pittsburgh, Pa, owners at that time, disposed of their holdings. In 1940 he purchased all of the outstanding shares of stock from the late Henry Bieberson of Delaware

Serving as secretary-treasurer of the corporation for a number of years, Mr Robinson became vice president and general manager Dec 31, 1947 he sold his entire holdings in the company to F S McNeal of Marion, remaining with the company for the past year as advisor in the capacity of executive vice president and general manager

The plant, now located at 125 Leader street, started in business on Olney avenue

Built New Home

Mr and Mrs. Robinson live in their new home at 825 Vernon Heights boulevard Mr Robinson is a member of Epworth Methodist church, Marion Lodge No 70 F and A M, Bird-McGinnis Post No 162, American Legion and the Marion Kiwanis club He is a member and past president of the advisory board of the Salvation Army

Mr Robinson plans to attend the annual Glass and Pottery show in Pittsburgh Jan 10 to 15 as has been his custom for many years, and upon his return he and Mrs. Robinson will leave for a vacation in Hollywood Fla

Rules Christmas Deaths Caused by Monoxide

BIG BEAR, Calif Dec 28—(AP)—The Christmas mountain cabin deaths of Dr Jerome G Schnedorf and three other members of his family were caused by monoxide poisoning and asphyxiation.

That was Coroner R E Williams' ruling after blood and tissue tests yesterday apparently solved the tragic yuletide mystery He said no inquest will be necessary

The coroner's report disclosed that the brick and frame cottage was sealed tight with windows nailed and high-banked snow probably stopped up one or more of the vents of a butane gas heater

The heater was burning, sheriff's deputies said, when they found the bodies of Dr Schnedorf, 35-year-old Santa Barbara physician, his two children, Tommy, three, and Judy, eight; and his mother, Mrs. Josephine Schnedorf, 64, River Forest, Ill

GEOMETRY AIDS SPINE SURGERY

Helps Tell When To Operate on Children for Curvature.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK

A little geometry can help tell when, and when not, to operate on children with one type of curvature of the spine, a 14-year study at the hospital for special surgery here shows.

The geometry adds up the angles of the curves in the spine It can trace, accurately whether they are getting worse.

The study was made by Dr John R Cobb chief of the scoliosis clinic of the hospital

Scoliosis means a sidewise curving of the spine. Many people have it, to a slight and unnoticeable degree When the curving is bad, the shoulder and ribs may be prominent on one side or one hip may jut outward, with the trunk curving inward on the other side

Various Causes

Many different conditions may cause this curving But in most cases, perhaps 85 per cent, the cause is not known

The spine may become curved like a long letter "S" If the middle part of the spine starts to curve, then segments above and below may curve in the opposite direction This is compensation to maintain balance But there is a normal limit to this. If the main curve is severe, the pelvis may tilt or one hip or knee may bend in the effort to keep the head and eyes level.

Putting the child in a plaster cast or brace can straighten out the spine to some extent. But this is usually only temporary, Dr. Cobb said The spine curves again when the support is removed.

The only permanent way to correct and stop the curving is by a spine fusion operation, he said. The vertebrae in the curve are made to grow into a solid mass of bone, making that part of the spine rigid For more strength extra bone is usually added It is taken from the patient's leg, from another person or from the hospital's bone bank. Any number of vertebrae can be fused this way.

Not Many Need Operation

Less than five per cent of children with this curving from unknown causes need such an operation, Dr. Cobb finds after study of more than 3,000 patients since 1934.

In most cases, the curving is slight and doesn't cause any real defect, he said. Also, it generally stops by itself. Usually it stops entirely by the age of 15, and doesn't get worse after that.

The geometry is a real help in learning what is happening, and what to do, his study showed.

Taking X-ray pictures, he measures the angle of the main curve. He also measures the angles of the compensating curves, and adds them. Usually this sum is equal roughly to the angle of the main curve

SPECIAL DELIVERY. When he answered an emergency call Patrolman Kenneth Huberty, New York, didn't know that Mrs. Alice Nugent had promised her other children that they'd have a "baby sister for the New Year" Beating the stork to the Nugent residence, Huberty, aided by another policeman, delivered the child Here he presents the baby girl to the happy mother.

Red Germany

'People's Democracy' Is Moscow Directed

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Writer

BERLIN

You have to read Pravda to get the low down on the politics of eastern Germany.

In Pravda's terminology, a people's democracy is a country where a Communist minority is in the saddle riding the masses toward the goal of a Stalinist state.

That's the future marked out for Russian-occupied Germany.

Communists as yet don't have the one-party system, but they are working for it. They need no reminder such a system requires a formidable police force. They are building one.

All along the line, German Communism is speeding up its program, spurred on by the cold war between east and west.

The Soviet occupation zone has one-third of the population and land of defeated Germany. Russian officers administer it according to rigid directives from Moscow.

Reds Could Take Over

But if the Soviet army were to leave tomorrow, German Communists could take over without a hitch.

The rise of a tiny Red minority to domination over the governments of five German provinces surrounding Berlin is a thing of Stalinist beauty. It's been done with just a little police terror. The mere sight of Russian uniforms has choked off many anti-Communist protests.

Communists have side-tracked majority rule in the provinces of Mecklenburg, Brandenburg, Saxony-Anhalt, Saxony and Thuringia.

To subdue political competition, the Communists used a familiar stratagem. They rigged a merger with the vote-heavy Social Democratic party. The result was the Socialist Unity party. Its policies are 100 per cent Communist. The Social Democrats have to say yes or shut up.

But Communists tacitly admit many adult Germans are impossible to convert. To let them blow off political steam, frightened remnants of the Christian Democratic and Liberal Democratic parties still function.

As a catch-all for stragglers, Communists helped two more parties get organized: the National Democrats and the Farmers' Union. The more splinter parties the better, is the Communist view until the time is ripe for only one party.

In provincial parliaments Communists even yet might run into trouble, if all splinter deputies got mad at once and united against drastic new legislation.

The "Democratic Bloc"

But that is hardly likely to happen. Why? Meet the "Democratic bloc," a super-parliament which never has to run for election by the people.

In each province...it is a small tight group. It includes Communist bosses from the Trade Union Federation, the Women's Union, the Free German Youth, and the Union for Mutual Farmers' Aid.

Political parties are regimented into "ANTIFA"—a so-called anti-Fascist front. "ANTIPA" can send few or three delegates to the "Democratic bloc." Mostly they're Communists.

When the "Democratic bloc" demands a new law, no eastern German parliament dares but rubber-stamp it.

Defying Communist pressure, a few recalcitrant socialist leaders occasionally flee over the frontier to western Germany.

When people grumble that promises of a better life haven't been fulfilled, the Communists have a ready alibi: Sabotage.

Some anti-Communists don't escape. It's rumored there are as many as 40,000 in concentration camps at Sachsenhausen, Buchenwald and Muehlberg.

A general election was to be held in eastern Germany last October. Communists blandly put it off indefinitely. They said the Germans shouldn't waste time at the polls when they could be harvesting crops and starting the two-year plan for industry.

Never Criticize Soviet

Communists sparingly indulge in self-criticism. But one topic is taboo. The Soviet Union can do no wrong.

Priding themselves on realism, the Communists look to the next generation to provide the truly loyal masses. They have taken over the school system to make sure. From the time he learns to read, the east German child is stuffed with Stalinist orthodoxy.

Indoctrination is stressed for all newcomers to the public payroll. The ministry of interior in each province runs special courses in what to say and think in the "new democratic order." It maintains large numbers of snoopers on the watch for "neo-Fascists."

Few if any mental giants are apparent among German Communists. Since Moscow's trouble with Tito, However, it appears to appreciate mediocrity in its foreign cahorts.

CRAWFORD CO. TO GET NEW ROUTE 4 BRIDGE

To Span Little Scioto River Near Marion Co.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Dec. 28—A new, two-lane bridge will be constructed over the Little Scioto river on State Route 4 near the Marion-Crawford county line, H. G. McMichael, state highway superintendent here, reported today.

The new structure will replace the present one-lane bridge. A dip, which obscures vision, also will be eliminated. The old bridge will be moved and placed on abutments of remains of a bridge used by the old Columbus and Southwestern street car line.

Traffic will be maintained, McMichael said. Removal of the old bridge will be started shortly and construction of the new span will be completed in the spring.

McMichael pointed out today, however, that the project may be delayed because nine owners of property on the east side of the road adjoining the project have rejected sums offered them for right-of-way settlements.

Condemnation proceedings have been instituted in Crawford county common pleas court here against Emma Lott, Mary Eloise and Raymond V. Furniss, all of 429 Summit street, Marion; Marion and Bonnie Channey, 313 North State street, Marion; Ray and Imogene Denzer, RFD 1, Waldo, and Robert and Virginia Criswell, RFD 2, Mt. Gilead.

FAITHFUL FARMERS

Election of officers for the new year was held when the Big Island Faithful Farmers 4-H club met Thursday night at the township house. Donald Johnson was elected president, Paul Snare vice president, Earl Snare, secretary and treasurer, Charles Snare, recreation leader, and David Johnson, reporter. A talk on planes and squares was given by Lloyd Lutz. Plans were made for a scrap drive to be held Dec. 31, and the next meeting will be at the township house.

FOUR ARE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Elyria Residents Involved in Crash Near Mt. Gilead.

Four persons were injured in an automobile accident at 7:30 a.m. yesterday on highway 61 south of Mt. Gilead, Marion state highway patrolmen reported today.

A car driven by Orville Munyan, 38, of Lorain ran off of the road and struck an embankment. The cause of the accident was undetermined. The five passengers in the car were taken to a Mt. Gilead physician for treatment. Mr. Munyan suffered cuts and bruises on the legs. Cathleen Munyan, 25, suffered leg cuts and a bruised forehead. Mildred Ray, 19, of Elyria, suffered cuts on her right hand and knee. Jerry Ray, 9 months, of Elyria, suffered a head laceration. Larry Ray, 1½, also of Elyria, was not injured.

The Circus Maximus in which Roman games and gladiatorial contests were held is estimated to have seated 350,000 spectators.

New Equipment Here For City Hospital

The Jewett Blood Bank and the Bryan-Garvey Pipette rotor, two valuable pieces of equipment purchased recently by the Woman's Board of the Marion City Hospital have arrived and are installed ready for use, it was announced today by James A. Mantz, business supervisor of the hospital.

The blood bank, designed to meet the specific needs of blood storage, was purchased by the board in anticipation of the opening of the Red Cross blood bank program which will get under way in Marion on Jan. 20. On this date the blood bank unit from the Columbus center, which will service Marion, will come to Marion.

An appeal for volunteers to donate blood for the center on that date has been issued by the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Persons wishing to donate blood are asked to call the chapter office 2431 and register. Volunteers will be called before the units visit, it announced.

The Pipette Rotor was designed to assure uniform dispersion of blood cells in the diluting pipette and on the field of the counting chamber resulting in blood cell counts of higher accuracy and increased uniform dependability.

Equipment purchased by the board is financed principally through two major benefits staged annually by the members, the sale of tickets for the Little Grand Circuit races during the summer and the annual holiday dance. This year's dance will be held tonight at the Hy-Way Rollarena and will mark the twentieth year the board has sponsored the holiday event.

ATTACK POMEROY AS "MARRIAGE MILL"

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 28—(AP)—The way marriage licenses are issued in Pomeroy, O., was attacked by local authorities yesterday.

Divorce commissioner John F. Throckmorton said he and Circuit Judge David E. Turner might ask Gov. Thomas J. Herbert of Ohio to investigate the Pomeroy situation. Pomeroy is 35 miles down the Ohio river from here.

The commissioner said he and the judge were aroused at the procedure in issuing licenses and conducting blood tests in Pomeroy.

He cited one case in which a 15-year-old girl obtained a marriage license, and another in which a couple reportedly obtained a permit on Sunday.

"We have had several," he said, "we consider so flagrant that we have considered asking the governor of Ohio to investigate procedures there."

Pomeroy, he continued, is not the only town along the Ohio where "marriage mill" conditions exist, but, he asserted, conditions were "most outstanding there."

Throckmorton said the alleged conditions came to his attention when a Wood county couple who married in Pomeroy sought a divorce in circuit court here.

ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT'S WIFE SLASHES WRIST

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Dec. 28—(AP)—Faye Emerson Roosevelt, beautiful actress wife of Elliott Roosevelt, slashed her left wrist with a razor early Sunday in the couple's Hyde Park home, Sheriff C. Fred Close said last night.

The sheriff quoted Dr. H. Sherman Hirst, who treated the 31-year-old Mrs. Roosevelt, as saying he understood the wound was self-inflicted and that she had to be restrained from injuring herself further.

But Roosevelt reached by telephone said the injury resulted from an accident.

"There is nothing to it," he added.

The cut was described as superficial. It required no stitches.

After treating the blonde actress, Dr. Hirst sent her to Vassar Brothers hospital here where she spent the night under observation. She was released at noon yesterday.

When informed of Roosevelt's statement that the wound was inflicted accidentally, the sheriff said:

"I can't help what Elliot says. This is what Dr. Hirst told Deputy Sheriff (Hugh) Brennan.

"It is my impression that the cutting was deliberate and I am asking Elliott Roosevelt to appear at the district attorney's office Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock for further details."

Later Close said he had received word from Roosevelt's attorney that the son of the late President would appear.

The Roosevelt's were married four years ago, he for the third time and she for the second.

Cleveland Man Shot In "Numbers" War

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28 (AP)—A would-be assassin fired a shotgun blast from a speeding auto early today, wounding Mathew (Peaches) Johnson as he was opening the street door of an east side apartment building.

"This is policy, I guess," Johnson told Detective Edward Murray at Charity hospital. Physicians said he was in danger of losing his right hand.

Johnson, 27, is the nephew of Hustle Mathews, a man long listed by Cleve at I police as a top figure in the numbers racket in the city.

In the last four months four houses have been bombed with TNT and two various attempts to hush up an investigation of the policy racket or as a war between two factions.

Lime dressing for the soil can be traced to the earliest records of British agriculture.

ASK MORE PARKING

BUCYRUS — City council has been urged to provide more automobile parking space at City hospital and has referred the matter to its finance committee. Suggestion for enlargement of the parking area to provide space for 15 to 30 more autos was made by Councilman D. D. Bibler, a Bucyrus physician.

Calumet Farm Took Top Honors in East

NEW YORK, Dec 28—(AP)—Calumet Farm, thanks to Citation, galloped off with leading owner honors for the 1948 New York racing season, while Hirsch Jacobs topped the trainers and Ted Atkinson headed the jockeys.

Citation's spectacular performance—the colt started only four times in New York and collected $248,200 for owner Warren Wright—overshadowed this section of the state racing commission's annual report released today.

In leading the jockey standings, Atkinson set the first million-dollar mark in earnings in a single season in New York Toronto Teddy had 1,018 mounts, won with 198 and earned $1,184,412.

Eddie Arcaro, who piloted Citation in all his major races, had only 435 New York Mounts, winning with 108 His horses won $824,487 in New York

Gene O'Dell, new member of the New York Knickerbockers of the pro Basketball Association of America, scored 19 points last season for the Duncan Collegians, as Duncan ended the famed Harlem Globetrotters' amazing streak of 80 consecutive victories

4 Major College Teams Fall From Undefeated Ranks

NEW YORK Dec 28 (AP)—College basketball's thinning ranks of unbeaten teams reeled today under the heaviest single blow of the young campaign

Four quintets were swept from the perfect list — Washington State, Canisius, Indiana and Purdue

This left only 18 major teams still without a blemish Of these, seven had to survive tough tests last night

Outfits managing to carry on without a setback were Bradley, Stanford, La Salle of Philadelphia Western Kentucky, Duquesne, Lawrence Tech and Alabama

The season's longest winning streak was snapped when Washington State which had scored ten straight victories, was topped by UCLA 54 44, in the Pacific Coast conference tournament at San Francisco

Bradley thus became the nation's biggest winner, achieving No 10 in a row at the expense of St. Mary's of California, 60-58.

Canisius, which had won six, was toppled by Western Kentucky at Buffalo, N Y, 65-59, giving the Blue Grass boys their seventh triumph without reversal

Indiana bowed to Butler, 64-55, and Purdue lost to Notre Dame, 51-50, on Leo Barnhorst's free throw in the last ten seconds in a doubleheader at Indianapolis.

Stanford's Indians won their ninth straight by humbling Oregon, 70-62, in the PCC tournament

The PCC tournament also saw California trounce Washington, the defending conference champions, 75-49, and Southern California upset Oregon State, 60-40

La Salle and Lawrence Tech of Detroit joined Western Kentucky as teams that now have lined up seven straight victories

La Salle had to overcome a 13-point deficit to whip Louisville 76-71 at Convention Hall, in Philadelphia Utah won the first game of this show beating St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, 78-54

Lawrence Tech won over Colorado State 45-43 Duquesne took its fourth by conquering Rutgers 53-43

Alabama winning No 5 upset a favored Southern Methodist university, 42-39, in the All-College tournament at Oklahoma City

In other tournament games the Oklahoma Aggies opened defense of their title by overpowering Texas Tech, 47-28, Baylor toppled Auburn 59-44 and Texas turned back Colorado A and M 56-47

Defending champion Kansas State won its first game in the Big Seven conference meet, defeating Nebraska, 48-34 Iowa State was also a victor, ousting specially invited Harvard, 56-54

Y-INDEPENDENT IN 3-WAY TIE FOR LEAD

Schlairet's 33-32 win over Mid-town tossed the Y Independent league into a three-way tie last night Each team has won four and lost one game.

Schlairet jumped out to an early lead in the cleanly played game before a full house last night at the Y, but their lead was cut to two points at half time It was a seesaw battle in the last half with Schlairet leading by five points in the closing minutes Failure to freeze the ball enabled the Middies to put in two quick ones and nearly win.

Martel had an easy time with the Home Super Market boys, winning 68-46. Martel took the lead and held it although the first ten minutes were close

The much improved Greens disposed of Sally Ann 60-38 last night This another close one for an early ten minutes, but the Greens soon connected for a good lead which they held

Schlairet, Midtown and Martel are now chummily rubbing elbows in the first place slot in the league.

The officials were George Keel and Bill Barnetson

Rain Chief Fear At Tournament of Roses

PASADENA, Calif., Dec 28—(AP)—The two Rose Bowl coaches are going to be unhappy if the Tournament of Roses sunshine luck runs out New Year's day

A long range forecast has not been issued as yet, but amateur predicters, watching the rain pelt Southern California yesterday, began to worry that the California-Northwestern contest may be a battle of the mud.

Both coaches, Bob Voigts of Northwestern and Lynn Waldorf of the California Bears, are on record as praying for clear skies and a fast field.

"This is a big game, and rain, and mud will simply ruin it for the players and the spectators It will just be tough luck if it does come up bad weather," said Voigts The same sentiments came from Pappy Waldorf

The Wildcats did not play a single game in the mud this season They have practiced several times in the muck, however—including yesterday

The Rose Bowl for years has enjoyed amazing luck in the weather line Actually, the last time it let loose from above was the 1934 game, which is known as the year of the big flood It is also well remembered for Columbia's 7-0 upset via the ancient hidden ball trick over a heavily favored Stanford eleven

It poured by the tons the night before, fire department pumps were employed to help drain the water off the field, and it rained during the contest. Strong young men charged $1 to carry ladies through the mud from their cars to the stadium, and the place was further inundated at the final gun by the burst of Stanford tears. Also, Coach Lou Little may have added a few tears of his own, caused from excessive laughing up his sleeve.

BELMONT, PREAKNESS LOP SIZE OF PURSES

NEW YORK Dec 28—(AP)—Two of the three racing features that make up the triple crown—the Belmont Stakes and Preakness—plan to lop $25 000 off the size of their purses next year.

The Westchester Racing association announced yesterday the added money of the 1949 Belmont would be $75,000 instead of $100 000

A spokesman for the Maryland Jockey club said the Preakness at Pimlico undoubtedly will follow suit He said the board of directors will vote on reducing the Preakness purse to $75,000 when it meets next month.

The Kentucky derby apparently will continue its $100 000 added value Churchill Downs directors, meeting last month set that figure for the May 7 diamond jubilee race.

DIXIE HONEYMOON

BIRMINGHAM, Ala, Dec 28—(AP)—Fullback Jerry Mangum of the Baylor Bears will be honeymooning tomorrow when his team arrives in Birmingham for the Dixie bowl game He was married Sunday to Miss Carol Jack, secretary to head coach Bob Woodruff The couple will arrive with the team and spend their brief honeymoon here.

EZ CHANGES MIND, WANTS TO BOX JOE

NEW YORK, Dec 28—(AP)—Like Joe Louis, Ezzard Charles has changed his mind The Negro contender from Cincinnati now is anxious to fight the Brown Bomber for the heavyweight title in June

So said Jake Mintz, manager of Charles, when he arrived in town to consult with Harry Markson managing director of the 20th Century Sporting club

Shortly after he stopped Joe Baksi here Dec 10. Charles evinced no desire to take on the champ But Mintz says that Ezzard is eager now to get in there with Louis

"Charles still thinks the champion is a great guy," Mintz said "But like he told me 'I'm a man and that hero worship stuff will have to be sidetracked I want the title and I'd like to fight Louis for it in June'"

Mintz talked over the situation with Markson, who advised Jake to keep in touch with him.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC GROUPS MEET IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec 28—(AP)—More than 200 delegates, representing 20,000 schools in 42 states, today opened the annual four-day meeting of the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations

The opening day agenda included discussions on new eligibility rules, athletic accident benefit plans and safety problems and interstate relationships for officiating

The federation's national football committee meets Thursday and Friday and is scheduled to re-certify the 1948 code for 1949

Mt. Union, Muskingum Fall

COLUMBUS, Dec 28—(AP)—Mount Union and Muskingum dropped from the ranks of undefeated Ohio college basketball quintets last night

Kent State stopped the Muskies, 60-50, in the opening game of the Youngstown invitational tournament and the host school eliminated Mount Union 57-50 in the second Muskingum was defending champion

The two winners meet tonight for the title after the losers play for consolation honors Kent has won five of six, Youngstown four of six

In the only other game involving an Ohio quintet last night Ohio State's once-beaten Buckeyes completed a successful road trip by blasting Denver university at Denver 66-57 The Buckeyes now have won five out of six starts this season They won three out of four on a western swing

Muskingum, which won its first five starts, trailed Kent most of the way The Muskies were behind 33-23 at halftime Leslie Thompson scored 14 points for Kent while Tom Connor tossed in 22 for the losers

Mount Union, which had won four straight, battled Youngstown evenly for a half but Youngstown scored six points in one minute early in the second half and never was pressed closely after that Forward Jack Chris[illegible] paced Youngstown with [illegible] points

Ohio State was behind Denver most of the way until the last three minutes as forwards Dick Schnittker and Bob Donham broke up a tight game With five and a half minutes to play Denver—one of college basketball's big disappointments so far this season—had a 50-46 lead Ohio State then went ahead 52-50 before Denver tied it at 52-all It was there that Schnittker who finished with 25 points and Donham who racked up 18 took command

Martel Surprises Alumni Cagers, 38-34

PHILADELPHIA Dec 28—(UP)—The Philadelphia Athletics promised today to provide a roster and a manager for the Youngstown, O, club in the Middle Atlantic Baseball league Arthur Ehlers, director of the A's farm system, announced yesterday that the American league team has signed a working agreement with Youngstown for the 1949 season.

MIKE CANNAVINO

Mike Cannavino To Play with Pro Browns

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28—(AP)—Ohio State halfback Mike Cannavino, 23-year-old Clevelander, has signed to play professional football with the Cleveland Browns, the club announced today

Cannavino was the Browns' seventh choice in the All-America Football conference draft last week Injuries kept him out of action most of the past season at Ohio State

A standout defensive player Cannavino weighs 175 pounds and was used by the Buckeyes in 1946 as their first string defensive quarterback In 1947 he was moved to left halfback and against Michigan that year was Ohio's leading ground-gainer

ST. MARY TO PLAY ALUMNI TONIGHT

The Fighting Irish cagers have two battles on their hands this week after recent scheduling

Tonight they will take on the championship Marion St Mary squad of last year at the Edison gym. Thursday night they travel to Mt Vernon to meet Mt Vernon St Vincent in a benefit contest for the Knox county polio fund

The team that Coach Tree Sharrock's men will meet tonight is the same one that came within a game of winning the Central district's upper bracket championship Those 1947 Irish were beaten by Bremen's Oilers, 42-36 in the finals. The contest will start at 8 30 with a preliminary contest scheduled for 7 30 on the Edison hardwoods

Familiar to Marion basketball fans are the names of the squad that will take the floor tonight The complete team will be Bob Stuber, Dick Schuler John Badauf, Joe Maniaci, Dick Drake, Jim Moloney, and Dan Smith The only man who was on that team of last year but will not play on the Alumni squad tonight will be Corky Cusick. '48 Track Featured By Olympic Games

NEW YORK — AP — Everybody who could run ran in 1948— and we're not talking about the election.

There were hundreds of races . . . the trackmen, most of whom had their eyes on the Olympic games in London. Athletes from the United States walked off with 11 of 24 men's track and field events.

No male athlete won two Olympic events but there were four who added Olympic titles to their AAU championships. Harrison Dillard, Baldwin-Wallace Negro, won the 100-meter Olympic dash and the 60-yard high hurdles indoors. Bill Porter of Northwestern won the 110-meter high hurdles in both outdoor competitions.

Roy Cochran of the Los Angeles A C took both 400-meter hurdles and young Bob Mathias of Tulare, Calif., had little difficulty winning the Olympic and AAU decathlon.

The indoor track season saw parson Gil Dodds set a new mile record. The 29-year-old Bostonian covered the 11 laps in Madison Square Garden in 4 05.3, knocking one and one-tenth seconds off his 1944 mark. At the Boston K. of C. games he won his 21st indoor mile in a row but he missed the Olympic trials when he came up with first the mumps and then a leg injury.

Mel Patton, Southern California sprinter, set a new world record for the 100-yard dash being timed in 09.3 at Fresno, Calif. Herb McKenley of Jamaica clipped threetenths of a second from his 46.3 world record in the 440-yard dash and set a new 400-meter mark of 45.9 in the AAU meet.

Dillard won 82 straight events but the task was too much for him at the AAU outdoor games when his schedule called for two trial heats and two finals within 47 minutes.

During his phenomenal streak, Dillard broke two world records. He covered the 220-yard low hurdles in 22.3 and the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.6. The latter record breaker took place at the Kansas relays where shotputter Charles Fonville, Michigan pre-dental student, heaved the 16-pounds 58 feet ¼ inch.

Mrs. Fanny Blankers-Koen, Holland housewife with three children, was the big track hero of the Olympics, winning three events. The only United States gal to triumph was Alice Coachman of Tuskegee Institute, Alabama. She won the high jump setting a new Olympic record of 5 feet 6⅛ inches.

A 28-year-old ex-soldier often called "Skin and Bones," Robert Black of Rhode Island State was brilliant in crosscountry. The 124-pounder from North Attleboro, Mass., won the AAU, NCAA and IC4A events.

Thursday Matches Off —Armory Lacks Heat

Because of the installation of a new boiler to the heating plant of the Marion Armory, there will be no wrestling matches this Thursday, Promoter Les Fishbaugh announced today.

The heating plant is expected to be ready to operate next week, however, and the weekly Thursday night shows will resume then, Fishbaugh said.

SAYS VEECK TO ASK FELLER TO TAKE CUT

CLEVELAND, Dec 28- (AP)— The Cleveland News quoted President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians today as saying he will ask his one time top pitcher, Bob Feller, to take a salary cut in 1949.

In a story by Ed McAuley of the News staff, Veeck conceded saying in Oklahoma City. "I'd like to make as much myself next year as Feller's cut in pay will be."

When Feller signed last year for around $82,000 he became the highest paid baseball pitcher in history.

"I did say that in Oklahoma City. And it could be true without meaning very much. There are at least 50 guys in the major leagues who make more than I do.

"I plan to offer Bob a contract under which his attendance bonuses will start at a higher crowd figure, so naturally, if we draw the same number of people we drew last season, he'll collect less money.

"But I guess he'll still be able to get by."

Feller was in Van Meter, Ia., for his sister's wedding. McAuley quoted him as saying:

"I didn't have as good a year last season as I had in 1937, so I'm in line for a cut. On the other hand, the club drew a lot of people and made a lot of money, so I don't think the cut should be deep enough to put me out of business. But I won't have any trouble coming to terms with Bill."

Veeck is in Los Angeles to receive an award for his manager, Lou Boudreau.

Carbines and rifles for the armed forces are being packed in steel cans to protect them from rust.

Oil Causes Fire At Patten Street Home

A minor fire causing an estimated $25 loss occurred yesterday at 8 42 p. m. at the home of James C. Mathers of 254 Patten street, central fire department reported today.

Mr. Mathers' young son lit the kitchen stove and set on a pan of oil, firemen said. The oil caught fire and the boy set the pan in the sink and turned on the faucet. The fire was thrown onto the window curtain which was destroyed. The flames scorched the window frame and the linoleum.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 28—(AP)— City workers will continue to receive a cost of living bonus until Feb. 28 or until salaries can be raised permanently, the city commission announced last night. The cost of living payments were due to expire Dec. 31. Non-clerical workers received $45 a month extra, clerks $30 a month, police and firemen $15, and hourly workers five cents an hour.

DESTROY 3,010 STILLS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28- (UP) —The internal revenue bureau reported today that its agents knocked over 3,010 moonshine stills in the July-November period. They seized 48,130 gallons of illegally-produced spirits and arrested 3,545 persons. Total property seized was valued at $1,057,714, or about twice as much as last year's July-November total.

Speaking of New Year's Resolutions

"Down here on Main Street in our big auto hospital us boys have made one big resolution for the New Year, to wit: to bust a hamestring if necessary in tryin' to do a still better job for car owners. And we're mighty serious about it, too! The reason is because we're really conscientious and are grabbin' hold of everything that's new in car fixin' tools and equipment, and our expert mechanics get better as time goes by. So, if your car starts actin' up or layin' down on the job, let us give it the business. We can help you keep'er rollin' smoothly durin' 1949. An' don't forget our resolution includes mighty sensible charges, too!"

RAPS MUNDT'S RULE PROPOSAL

Rankin Calls Change Request in Un-American Group's Rules "Silly."

WASHINGTON, Dec 28—(AP) — "Utterly silly," snapped Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) today in dismissing a set of proposed new rules for the house un-American activities committee.

Rankin, a veteran member of the committee, said the changes recommended by Reps. Mundt (R-SD) and Nixon (R-Calif.) just aren't practical.

The nine point overhaul program was advanced by the two Republicans last night for committee consideration when the Democrats take over control of congress next week.

Mundt and Nixon's main idea is to counter some of the criticism that has been heaped on the committee for its conduct of the recent spy investigation and earlier cases.

But Rankin, who will have a powerful voice in the new committee's affairs, said that if his Republican colleagues really wanted the changes made, they should have proposed them while their own party was in firm control of congress.

"Everyone should know," Rankin told newsmen, "that the rules of house committees follow the rules of the house. Committees themselves just don't make their own rules."

The changes proposed by Mundt and Nixon would:

1. Permit each witness to have a lawyer at either public or private sessions.

2. Prevent subcommittees from publishing reports not approved by the entire committee.

3. Precede public meetings with private sessions in an effort to prevent the disclosure of "surprise names."

4. Give accused persons the opportunity to testify at a public hearing.

5. Allow accused persons to question, through the committee chairman or counsel, the persons making the accusations.

6. Allow witnesses to make written or oral statements at the end of hearings.

7. Require the committee to furnish a transcript of testimony to a witness whenever the testimony is made public.

8. Stiffen the penalty for contempt of a congressional committee. Mundt and Nixon did not say, however, how much stiffer they think the penalty should be. The maximum now is a $1,000 fine and one year in jail.

The ninth proposed change was in the form of a suggestion that the new committee see what can be done about "excluding certain types of information media from open hearings of the committee."

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Kermit D. Brady of 156 Park boulevard pleaded not guilty to a charge of fraud this morning in municipal court. He was arrested by city police at 6:40 a. m. this morning at his home. The complaintant, George Clapsaddle, 790 Waples avenue, charged Brady passed him a bad check on Nov. 4. The check was drawn on the Marion County bank and the amount was $30. No date for a hearing on the case was set.

Stage Set For Hospital Benefit Dance Tonight

Last-minute details are being worked out and the stage set for the Anniversary Ball to be held tonight at the Hy-Way Rollarena under the sponsorship of the Woman's Board of the Marion City Hospital.

Music for dancing, which will start at 10 o'clock, will be by Russ Carlyle, America's newest singing star, featuring Nancy Clayton, vocalist, Norman Scott, novelty tunes, The Lamplighters quartet and the Coachman choir.

Carlyle, who played this week in Cleveland, and his ensemble present an entertaining program in addition to the dance music, taking their audience behind the scenes in radio, enacting a comedy version of the much maligned soap opera, replete with sound effects. In the "Skunk Hollow Follies," the band takes out their Ozark garb and go into a hillbilly production that is as clever as it is entertaining.

As in former years the proceeds of the dance will be used by the board to carry on its work at the Marion City hospital. Tickets may be obtained at the Rollarena tonight at five dollars per couple and $2.50 single admission.

Arrangements have been made to have the hall comfortably heated, the committee announces.

son, 31, another colored laborer an Ervin O'Malley, 28, white camp cook, told Sheriff Stansberry the fatal argument started early Christmas morning when Green charged McCoy with theft of money from him the night before.

The altercation continued intermittently throughout Christmas day they said and culminated in the late afternoon during a card game when Green accused McCoy of taking $2 from the gaming table, they said.

Enraged at the accusation, the burly man weighing nearly 300 pounds seized a hatchet lying nearby and attacked Green, raining blows on the victim's head until he fell and continuing to hack away even after the body was stilled.

McCoy then fled and hid in a brush pile in a small woodlot about a mile away. O'Malley called officers who took after him. He surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Karl Stansbery without a struggle.

Wyandot County Coroner J. A. Probst returned a cerdict of murder after viewing the scene at the rail camp. The victim's body was removed to the Bringman and company funeral home here.

Both Robinson and O'Malley are being held as material witnesses.

Bond Issue Killed

in the negotiation for three easements necessary to finish construction of the critically needed Ququa storm water sewer.

Authorize Offer

To put the situation squarely before the public and advance action as far as possible without condemnation proceedings, council last night passed unanimously an ordinance authorizing the safety-service director to enter into agreements to obtain three easements necessary in the construction of the four-foot sewer. Easements must be obtained from the property owners.

The city laid its cards on the table in offering the property owners sums based on valuations as estimated by Director Uncapher.

Gilbert A. and Jeanette Dennison were offered a lump sum of $50 plus $4 a foot for 150 feet on the side of their property facing Mt Vernon avenue, and an offer of 25 cents a foot for 565 feet of the back of their property facing toward Reed avenue. The total offer was $791 25.

Rose B. Isaleib was offered $50 for granting the easement and 25 cents a foot for 200 feet running along the rear of her property, total offer $100.

Frank N. and Lena R Brabson were offered $50 for granting the easement and 25 cents a foot for 1,000 feet running along the rear of their property, total offer $300. The director was authorized to offer the three property owners a total of $1,191.25.

To Advise Owners

Director Uncapher was ordered by council to advise the property owners of the city's offer. Mr. Uncapher told council he believed the payments had been estimated on the fairest and most equitable basis considering the relative merits of the properties concerned. He agreed with council that the city's latest and possibly final offer was just and fair and said he would report the results of his negotiations back to council as soon as possible, the next meeting night, two weeks away.

The city attitude in the matter was expressed by several councilmen in their instructions to Mr. Uncapher.

Councilman Clarence Sanden, sixth ward, speaking in behalf of residents of that ward who are suffering most from the delay on the Ququa project, said, "It is time these negotiations reach a definite stand. The entire Sixth ward has been on tenterhooks for several weeks waiting for the outcome of these negotiations. The present condition cannot continue."

Councilman-at-Large Newton D. Cunningham said, "Our offer to these three property owners has got to reach the final stage one of these days. It might as well be now."

Councilman Herman M. Miller, Fifth ward, asked, "Are these offers passed in tonight's ordinance the final offer we will make?"

Mayor Dowler, speaking for his administration, answered: "Mr. Miller, the city is not going to let two or three dollars more than these offers stand between us and a settlement of the problem without condemnation proceedings. These are, however, substantially our final offers. When Mr. Uncapher reports back at the next council meeting the results of his negotiations, should that report be no negotiations have been successful, you gentlemen will know what to do next."

Agree on Urgency

Council was in unanimous agreement the critical Ququa sewer project could not be delayed longer. However, they agreed they would not let the urgency of the matter and the intense public pressure for expediting the project stampede them into a settlement beyond the worth of the land involved. Last night's meeting clearly indicated the city will institute condemnation proceedings if necessary, rather than pay too high a price for the three easements.

Council passed an ordinance authorizing the Marion Water Co. to install a six-inch water main at Benton place connecting with the present six-inch main in Lincoln avenue together with installation of a fire hydrant to be located on the corner of Wilson avenue and Benton place at the direction of the fire chief.

Also passed were ordinances authorizing the park board to purchase a park tractor and gang mower and to sell three power mowers the city now has.

An ordinance was passed to authorize the safety service director to sell the old aerial ladder fire truck now declared unserviceable at Central fire station. Scrap materials at Greens street city yard were also authorized for sale by the same ordinance.

Phone Rate Case

City Solicitor John W. Watters was authorized by council to make preliminary investigation of the application of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co for an increase in rates and to represent the city in the matter.

Upon the motion of Councilman Cunningham, Council President William Slack directed the city engineer to investigate and report to council his recommendation and estimates of costs for placing two additional outlets to McKinley park lake.

Carl Knirk, a representative of Anthony's Laundry presented his firm's views on the parking meter situation proposed at East Center street. Upon recommendation of Mayor Dowler he agreed to let the administration attempt a solution of the problem as it affects his firm, before returning to council.

Council heard and voted to accept the report of the city planning commission which disapproved transferring the rear 70 feet of 864 Congress street, the property of Mr and Mrs. George W. Shappard, from residential to commercial zone for the erection of a grocery store. The commission disapproved Shappard's petition for the change on the grounds the district is strictly residential and that many of the 50 signers of the petition are not property owners.

Petition Approved

The planning commission approved the petition of the McMillin Feed Co to rezone the area bounded by Grand and Jefferson streets and George and Farming streets from the residential to industrial zone and added three more lots to be included in the rezoning than were asked for in the original petition. Council set a public hearing on both rezoning petitions for the night of next Feb 14.

Council also voted, on the motion of Councilman Sanden, Sixth ward, seconded by Councilman at Large Cunningham, to refer the proposed ordinance to increase the city police force from 22 to 27 patrolmen, three captains and a chief, to the municipal service committee of council for further study, before adjourning the two-hour session.

RENO HIT BY SEVEN MINOR EARTHQUAKES

RENO, Nev., Dec. 28—(AP)—Seven earthquakes hit Reno within four and a half hours last night—the third one causing "a good deal of jiggling in Reno's 42-year-old city hall and bringing prompt adjournment of a city council session. There were no reports of damage.

Frank McCulloch, city hall reporter covering the council session for the Reno Gazette, said the "jiggling" shock was accompanied by a slight rumble. At least two of the earlier tremors were "relatively sharp," he reported.

The second of the series "made our whole house creak, caused candles on our dinner table to sway violently, and almost upset our Christmas tree," he related. The first noticeable tremor swung chandeliers and rattled doors and windows.

Although some of the lesser tremors were not generally felt, Prof. Vincent P. Gianella, university of Nevada seismologist, said seven were recorded between 5:10 p. m. and 9:24 PST (8:10 a. m. and 12:24 a. m., EST) four were "very feeble," he said. He reported that he had heard a rumbling sound at 6:24 and again at 9:24 (PST).

Gianella said all the quakes centered "very close to Reno," a city of 35,000 to 40,000 population. Residents from Reno eastward to Sparks, three miles distant, felt the tremors and deluged police, firemen and newspapers with telephone calls.

TEACHERS' PAY HIKED

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28—(AP)—The Cincinnati board of education yesterday approved new salary schedules calling for a 12½ per cent increase for professional employes and seven to 10 per cent boosts for non-professional workers. The pay raises, effective Jan 1, will establish a $2,600 minimum and a $4,500 maximum for teachers.

BORROW TOOLS, CRACK SAFE

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28—(AP)—A safe in the Roediger Construction company's office in the Builders Exchange building was burglarized yesterday by yeggs who borrowed a crowbar and hatchet from a hardware display in the building. Police said $150 in cash and $200 in checks was stolen.

SEN. M'KELLAR HITS PUBLISHER

Strikes Fellow Tennesseean in Hotel Corridor After Exchange of Words.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—(AP)—An altercation between Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) and Silliman Evans, publisher of the Nashville Tennessean, in a corridor of the Mayflower hotel here came to light today.

McKellar, in response to a reporter's question, said he struck Evans in the face during a chance meeting on the sixth floor of the hotel. He said the incident occurred on a Sunday night about two weeks ago.

Evans said "I simply folded my hands behind my back and did not return the blow as I had no desire to strike the senator in view of his age." (McKellar is 79).

That was all Evans would say about the incident McKellar told a reporter:

"I understand that his (Evans') paper has carried a story of the affair. I have not seen the story and don't know its contents. I am reluctant to have the story published but since it has been I will give the facts for the record.

"I had left my room on the 6th floor of the Mayflower hotel and was walking down the corridor toward an elevator when I saw three men approaching. I didn't know the men and paid little attention to them.

"As I reached the elevator one of the men rushed up, grasped my right hand as if to shake it and with his left hand touched my shoulder.

"'Senator McKellar, Senator McKellar,' he yelled in a loud voice, 'although we don't like each other there's no reason why we shouldn't shake hands when we meet.'

"I was startled, not knowing the man, and asked him, 'who are you, what is your name?' He yelled 'don't you know me, don't you know me?'

"I asked him again what his name was, I guess I asked him several times. Finally he said, 'I'm Silliman Evans.'

"I said: 'Are you the skunk who has been writing those stories about me being old and decrepit, with one foot in the grave, and being in the hospital. Are you the man who has been writing those lies?'

"He said, 'Senator, there's a difference of opinion about whether they are lies.' And with that I hit him in the face with my right fist.

"He fell back and his companions took him away. Nothing more was said. He didn't strike back. But he didn't appear to resent what I had done. I lost my temper and, for that, I am sorry. It was an undignified act for a senator. I regret that it happened but if the circumstances were repeated I don't see how I could do otherwise again."

Acquitted of Charge Of Illegal Hunting

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Dec. 28—(INS)—Otto Zimmerman, Belle Center farmer who got his rabbit, also had his freedom today. He was acquitted of shooting game within 150 yards of a burning field.

Zimmerman claimed he measured the distance from the fire himself. He said his figures showed he was 485 feet away when he bagged his rabbit on the opening day of the hunting season.

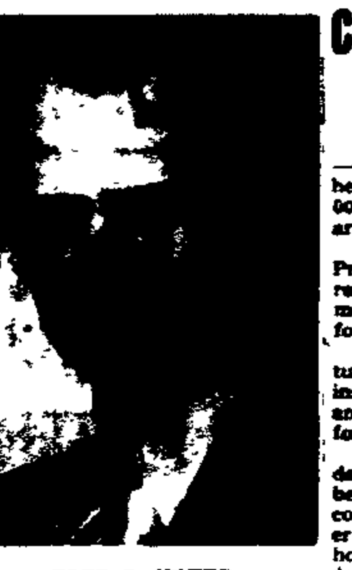

The jury of seven men and five women must have agreed.

BRYAN HIT BY FIRE

BRYAN, O., Dec. 28—(UP)—An early morning fire today destroyed a building housing an automobile agency and a tire shop with loss set at $20,000. The building, which housed Mac's tire shop and Rising motor sales, is just across the alley from a hardware store that was destroyed by fire Dec. 14 with $300,000 damage.

UNIVERSITY GRANTS

CHICAGO—(INS)—The University of Chicago has announced that business firms and industrial organizations contributed $934,000 in cash payments to the university's total gift, grant, and bequest receipts of $4,003,000 for the 1947-48 fiscal year.

FRED R. WHITE NEW MASTER OF LODGE

New Officers of No. 70 Installed in Annual Ceremony.

Fred R. White of 432 Forest street, was installed as worshipful master of Marion Lodge No. 70, Free and Accepted Masons, at the one hundred and eighth annual installation of officers of that lodge at the Masonic temple last evening.

Also installed were Albert J. Firestone, senior warden; Kenneth E. Fields, junior warden; Russell C. Snare, treasurer; Harold W. Hall, secretary; John E. Beer, chaplain; Frank V. Fields, senior deacon; Harley U. Landes, junior deacon; Warren G. Cyders, senior steward, Robert W. Gamble, junior steward; Otto J. Ricker, tyler.

The officers were installed by Harry C. Williams, the retiring master, assisted by Edwin P. King, as grand marshal, Ralph G. Williamson as grand chaplain and James H. Wilson, master of Broadlands Lodge No. 791, of Broadlands, Ill., as grand secretary.

Following the installation a reception program was held in the lodge room, with between 400 and 500 members and guests present.

Ralph E. Carhart, a past master of Marion lodge, served as master of ceremonies and presented the officers and their escorts as they entered the lodge room. He also presented the speaker of the evening who was Dr. Gaston Foote, pastor of Grace Methodist church at Dayton. The invocation was given by Dr. Vinton E. Busler, pastor of Epworth Methodist church.

Charles J. Smith, for and on behalf of the class of candidates of 1948 presented to Harry C. Williams a past master's jewel.

The colors were presented by the officers of Marion chapter No 288, Order of DeMolay, and the escorts for the Fellowcraft team were members of Marion Bethel No. 2 Jobs Daughters. Music during the program was furnished by members of the Masonic chorus.

Following his address Mr. White announced appointments including:

Following the program refreshments were served by the stewards in the dining room after which music for dancing was furnished by Socie Orchestra of Marion.

Britain Calls For Cease Fire in Negev

PARIS, Dec. 28—(AP)—Britain called today for an immediate cease fire in southern Palestine and withdrawal of Israeli forces in the Negev.

British delegate Harold Beeley submitted a resolution proposing the cease fire and Israeli withdrawal as the security council debated Egypt's charge that Israel had violated the truce with attacks Dec. 22 against Egyptian coastal postions in southern Palestine.

The resolution omitted any direct condemnation of Israel. This omission apparently was intended to attract American support.

COLD WAR COST TO GO UP NEXT YEAR

WASHINGTON Dec 28—(AP)—The cost of the cold war is heading upward by about $3,000,000,000 next year to a total of around $21,000,000,000.

That total is the minimum sum President Truman is expected to recommend to congress next month for financing American foreign policy.

It includes predictable expenditures for this country's "security insurance"—its own Army, Navy and Air Force—plus all kinds of foreign aid.

For the American taxpayer, the demands on his pocketbook would be far less were it not for the conflict with Russia. On the other hand, if the cold war—already hot in China and Greece—suddenly bursts into flame elsewhere, even these figures would go up astronomically.

According to the most reliable estimates now available from official sources, foreign policy financing will make up approximately half of Mr. Truman's $42-to-$43 billion budget for the year beginning next July 1.

Comparable costs in the present fiscal year will amount to around $18,250,000,000 barring any sudden change in the world situation.

All these figures are approximate since the China aid program is still a question mark, and the cost of military aid to western Europe can only be guessed now. The figures are based however, on such facts as these:

The United States military establishment (land, sea and air) is costing about $11,750,000,000 this fiscal year.

It will cost in actual cash outlays about $13,500,000,000 next year.

ISRAEL APPEARS TO HAVE WON BATTLE

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL, Dec. 28—(AP)—Israeli blows appear to have cut the Egyptians' coastal corridor to Gaza or placed it so closely under gunsights it is unlikely Egypt will be able to reinforce it.

An Israeli military spokesman said today the battle in southern Palestine was slackening.

Unofficial sources said the town of Gaza, Egyptian garrison point 20 miles north of the Egyptian frontier on the coastal highway, was either cut off or left in peril from field artillery and naval batteries.

On the basis of unofficial information, it seemed here the second fight for control of the Negev was virtually ended. It centered on the narrow coastal strip within mortar range of the Egyptian border. The first battle was in October.

C. & O. LAYS OFF 300

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Dec. 28—(AP)—The Chesapeake and Ohio railway said last night about 300 helpers and apprentices at its repair shops would be laid off after Thursday. The carrier also said about 300 others who had been upgraded as mechanics during the war were notified they would be returned to their former ranks of apprentices and helpers. The C. & O. gave a decline in traffic as reason for the curtailment.

Six Returned G.I.'s Tell Of Russ Capture

HERSFELD Germany, Dec. 28—(AP)—Six American constabulary soldiers, freed after some 30 hours of detention by Russian troops, said today Soviet officers were highly interested in U. S. Army training. The men were released last night.

An account of the arrest while the six were on a patrol Monday afternoon was given by Sgt. Joseph F. Kelly of Philadelphia.

"We were in two jeeps on regular patrol, Kelly said, "when we suddenly realized we had strayed over the American border and were about 150 yards in the Russian zone. We were getting ready to pull out when a Russian guard ran up. He fired several shots in the air and we stopped. Six more Russian soldiers came running up."

The Russians forced the men to leave their arms in the jeeps and to get out, leaving only the drivers, Pfc. Edward Sasser of Mobile, Ala., and Pfc. Chester Collins of Pineville, Ky., in the vehicles. A German border policeman accompanying them, also was arrested. A Russian was put in each jeep.

"That Russian guard was sure scared," said Pvt. Robert Deyton of Chester, South Carolina. "He was trying to reload his weapon and his hands were shaking so he could hardly get the cartridges out of his belt."

Kelly said they were marched to the town of Dippach, where they were questioned.

"A Russian major and a captain wanted to know how we trained and how we liked our clothing and shoes."

Cpl. John L. Warrick of Garrison, Pa., grinned.

"They even tried to find out how much money we drew and if we were forced into the Army."

The Russians, the men said, were interested in American equipment and in the strength and frequency of border patrols.

"Those guys tried to get real friendly," said Pfc. Lester Miller of Clemens, Ky., "but we wouldn't tell them anything."

PLAN FARM CLINIC IN CRAWFORD CO.

7 Conservation Experts To Head All-Day Session.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Seven conservation specialists will discuss soil and dairy problems during all day and evening sessions Thursday at Holmes-Liberty school, north of here, County Agent Russell L. Miller reported today.

Lectures have been scheduled simultaneously enabling farmers in attendance to attend two of the three programs scheduled for each group. Beginning with a general assembly at 10 a. m. the forenoon program will end at noon. The Holmes-Liberty Community club will serve lunch until 1:15 p. m.

The program schedule from 10:15 a. m. to 11 a. m. and from 1:15 to 2 p. m. will include Guy Miller, OSU farm management specialist, speaking on "Economics of Conservation and the 1949 Farm Outlook." At the same times, another section will hear Earl Jones, OSU crop specialist, discuss "Limestone and Fertilizer for Production of Better Hay and Pasture." The third section will hear John Slipher, OSU extension soils specialist, describe "Soil Tilth and Use of Farm Residues."

During the second session, scheduled from 11 a. m. to 11:45 a. m. and from 2 to 2:45 p. m., John Baker, head of the county soil conservation office, will show colored slides illustrating, "What Is a Soil Conservation District." During the same periods, Max Drake, manager of the Northern Ohio Breeders' Association, will explain "Dairy Testing and Breeding for Production" and Myron Smith will discuss soils of the county.

The evening program will feature the Crawford County Homemakers' chorus, directed by Mrs. Lester J. Utz of New Washington and a talk by C. D. Blubaugh, Knox county farmer, who spent the summer of 1947 in Europe studying European farming methods.

Christmas Program Presented by Pensioners

A Christmas program of songs, readings and music was presented by the members at a meeting of the Marion Society of Old Age Pensioners Friday afternoon in the Eagles hall dining room.

O. B. Christ, president, presided for the meeting which was opened with group singing of "America," repeating of the Lord's Prayer and the salute to the flag.

The program included a song, "The Love of God," by Mr. and Mrs. Troy Coats, reading of the Christmas story by Mrs. Grace Hann, a reading, "What Is Christmas?" by Mrs. Leona Sanderson, a song, "Silent Night," by Mr. Christ and Chris Ruth, accompanied at the piano by Miss Jeannette Christ, a song by Mr. Coats, accompanied by William Landis on the accordion, readings, "The Innkeeper Makes Excuses" by Mrs. O. B. Christ, and "Santa's First Ride" by Mrs. Dessie Sharp, a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Coats, and an accordion solo by Mr. Landis.

A gift exchange followed the meeting and refreshments were served. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Effie Aldrich.

WOMAN CONVICTED OF KILLING SOLDIER HUSBAND

MARBURG, GERMANY, Dec. 28—(AP)—Mrs. William Ybarbo of Malden, Mass., today was sentenced to 20 years in prison for killing her American soldier husband in a bedroom quarrel.

The U. S. military government court of three American judges convicted Mrs. Ybarbo of killing Sgt. John Ybarbo of Goliad, Tex., "with malice aforethought."

The 23-year-old defendant hardly changed the expression on her pale face as she heard the verdict.

The court rejected her plea that she shot her husband in self defense. The judges also rejected the possibility she was so overcome by passion that she was beyond self control when she pumped three pistol bullets into her husband after a quarrel.

Mercer Co. Farmer Is Lausche's 'Ag' Choice

CLEVELAND, Dec 28—(AP)—A husky, ruddy-faced farmer who cheerfully admits he "feels more at home in overalls than a suit" today was designated state agricultural director by Gov-elect Frank J Lausche.

The newest member of Lausche's cabinet is 44-year-old A. W. Marion, a one-time county agent who owns and operates what he describes as 440 acres of "typical Ohio farmland" in Mercer county near Rockford. Marion is the son of a farmer and the grandson of a farmer.

In an interview, he said he accepted the appointment because "it offered a real challenge and opportunity to serve the agriculture of Ohio."

Marion stands six feet two inches tall, weighs 230 pounds, has iron-grey hair and—when he isn't wearing his favorite overalls—dresses conservatively in dark suits. He uses glasses when reading "because I lost my eyes poring over artillery charts in World War Two."

He was with the field artillery 15 months, commanded a battery in Europe and was discharged a major

Advocates Conservation

The agricultural director-designate—who will succeed Republican Frank T. Farnsworth when Lausche is inaugurated Jan. 10—is a long-time advocate of soil conservation methods of farming.

"To me, farming is a trust," he said, taking a long puff on his pipe. "I want to pass my farm on in better condition than I found it. You can't simply run a farm for yourself and forget about future generations."

This type of farming, Marion believes, is used by "all of Ohio's better farmers." He said he hoped to extend it to every Ohio farm during his term.

Marion, who loves to hunt and fish, also believes completely in wild-life conservation. His farm is used by the state as part of a wild-life refuge. During the recent heavy snow, Marion spent hours feeding wild pheasants, quail and partridge on his own farm.

He raises a few pure-bred Shorthorn cattle as a hobby and always is experimenting with new types of grain.

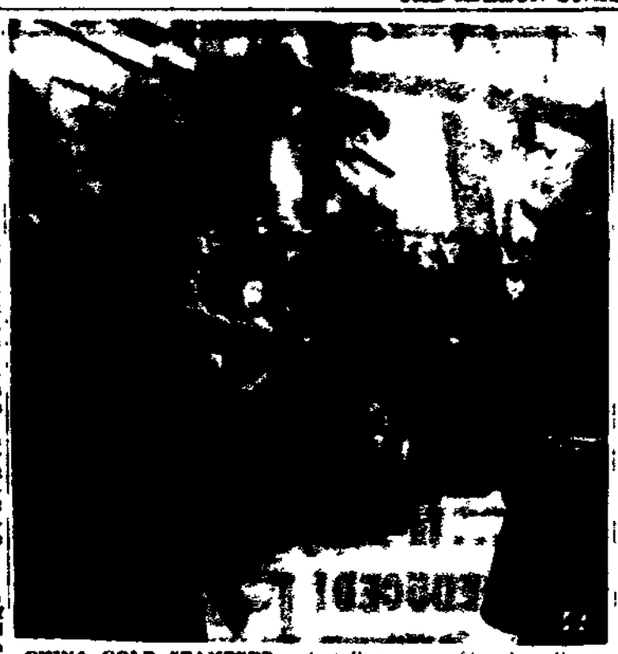

He was born and reared on a farm in Pickaway county near Circleville and says "you might say I've lived in the farming tradition all my life." He married the former Ruth Macklin of Fairfield county in 1930. They have one daughter—Jane, 13.

Graduated from OSU

After being graduated from Ohio State university's college of agriculture in 1926, Marion did pioneer work for 17 years as an extension specialist in OSU's horticulture department. He has lived on his Mercer county farm since 1937 and was county agent there for several years, resigning last July "because I had to devote more time to my farm." (He isn't sure how he will operate his farm while holding down the $8,666.66-a-year job as agriculture director.)

Marion belongs to both the Grange and the Farm Bureau, and is a member of several farm cooperatives. He admits he wasn't expecting the appointment as agricultural director.

But, now that he is going to direct Ohio's far-flung state department of agriculture, Marion obviously is prepared to attack the problem as a man who knows the farming industry inside and out.

CHINA GOLD STAMPEDE. A policeman in Shanghai, China pulls an umbrella-wielding woman from the crowd which fought to gain entrance to the Central Bank of China, in an effort to exchange gold yuan, a new currency, for one ounce of gold. Seven persons were reported killed and hundreds injured in the stampede.

CABLE INSTALLED FOR TRAFFIC LIGHTS

City Advertises for Bids for Remainder of Work.

The city has installed all new electric cables necessary to power the new traffic lights, E O Uncapher, city safety-service director announced today.

Since Dec. 23 the city has been advertising for bids for the contract of installing the lights.

Bids will be opened Jan. 7, at 12 noon, Mr Uncapher said. The city has had the lights on hand for several months.

The contract will call for replacing of present side arm lights with overhead lights at the following intersections: East Center at North and South Greenwood streets; East Center at State street; Center street at Main, West Center at Prospect street, West Center at Oak and Union streets; West Center at Campbell and Orchard streets; West Center at Leader street and Olney avenue; East Church street at South State street; Church street at South Main; and West Church street at South Prospect street.

Letting of the contract for installing the lights has been delayed almost five months because of the shortage of electric cable, Mr Uncapher said. The system was originally scheduled to replace the sidearm lights early last fall.

Research Association Executive Speaks Here

Ernest L. Little of Columbus, president of the Columbus Research Association, was guest speaker at the Lions club weekly luncheon meeting Monday at Hotel Harding.

He spoke on new developments in agriculture and science in industry, and displayed a number of raw materials, many kinds of plastics and other things which are made into necessary and useful articles.

Guests of the club were William Webster, a student at Northwestern university now home on vacation, and Dr. W. A Ranck of Marion.

Myron C. Taylor Gives $1,500,000 to Cornell

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 28—(UP)—Cornell university received a $1,500,000 Christmas present from Myron C. Taylor, wealthy industrialist and President Truman's special envoy to the Vatican. The money will be used to construct and furnish a World War II memorial building and student inter-faith center, which will be named Anabel Taylor Hall, in honor of his wife.

PARTY AT WALDO

Round and square dancing will be featured at a New Years Eve party at the Porter-Snyder Post 605 American Legion in Waldo Friday night. Both members and guests are invited. Festivities will begin at 8:30 p. m., and the music will be furnished by the Buggy Boys.

Says Meat Price Has Dropped 19 Per Cent

CHICAGO, Dec 28—(AP)—The American Meat Institute says the general wholesale price of all meat in the nation dropped about 19 per cent since the mid-September peak.

The institute said the retail price of meat declined 13 per cent since the mid-September peak.

The AMI said the wholesale price report was based on compilations by the U. S bureau of labor statistics. Included were all grades and all weights of beef, lamb, pork and veal.

The decline was based "primarily on government and trade quotations" on wholesale markets in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, the AMI said. The retail price check was based on a survey of Chicago chain and independent stores.

Yule Cheer Spread By Salvation Army

Christmas 1948 was made happier for more than 300 children in Marion because of the gifts which found their way to the Caravan Christmas tree at Uhler's department store, Adjutant Mary Nisewanz of the Salvation Army said today. The 307 gifts, 237 of which were articles of clothing and the remainder toys and books, were distributed to 331 children and 73 families were benefitted. Each of the 331 children received a gift of games and a bag of candy and fruit.

A total of 100 families received grocery orders for food baskets for Christmas providing dinners for 272 persons and a total of 145 families referred to the Salvation Army for help were investigated. Of the number of families assisted 17 were turned over to civic individuals and church groups requesting names of persons who might be aided. One-half a ton of coal was given. In all 173 families were given aid over the holiday.

Many Gifts Distributed

In addition to providing the grocery orders and caring for the distribution of the Christmas Caravan gifts 725 children received gifts of candy and toys at various Christmas parties held at the Salvation Army headquarters. 667 sunshine baskets were packed and distributed to institutions in Marion.

5 Generals in Japan To Be Returned Home

TOKYO, Dec. 28—(UP)—At least five general officers will leave Japan soon in line with Army department policy to return general officers who have been in foreign service for long periods to the "one of the interior," it was announced today.

Orders have been published for the return to the United States of Maj Gen Paul J Mueller, MacArthur's chief of staff; Maj. Gen Milton B. Halsey, Eighth army chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Charles S Perrin, Tokyo provost marshal; Brig. Gen Beasley, Eighth army military government officer; and Brig. Gen Franklin P. Shaw, judge advocate.

operation of radio, newspapers and department stores across the nation. The tree here was sponsored by the Uhler store and was in charge of Mrs. Catherine Rust, M E Burke and Don Quantance of the store with the cooperation of Cec Gasser, chairman of the Salvation Army A T Allen, Rev R W Faulkner, Judge Edward J Rohr and Cutler McGrew. The clothing was given to the children of school age and all received toys, games and other gifts.

Source of Funds

Funds for the Christmas baskets and grocery orders were provided from the Salvation Army kettles with the major part being collected by the service clubs, the members of which man the kettles the Saturday preceding Christmas. Clubs assisting include Kiwanis, Y Men's, Jay-Cees, Lions and Exchange.

Burning Sensation of Tongue

YEARS ago one of the first things a doctor would tell his patient to do was to stick his tongue out. But now more modern methods are used to find whether a patient's ailment is [illegible] there is a condition in which burning of the tongue occurs and this may be a perplexing problem that is not too easily solved. When such a symptom is present inspection of the tongue may not reveal anything abnormal. This is particularly true when the trouble is due to a vitamin deficiency.

A lack of niacin and riboflavin which is a part of the vitamin B complex is an important cause for a burning sensation of the tongue.

Sometimes the symptom may develop in a patient, with diabetes or ulcer who is on a restricted diet. The deficiency may also result from an excessive loss of these vitamins, such as occurs in bowel disorders in which diarrhea is present. Any type of excessive loss of fluid from the body may be a contributing factor causing dryness of the mouth and burning of the tongue.

Burning tongue is also present in pernicious anemia. Then, too, there is a type of anemia in which there is a lack of acid in the stomach and a deficiency of iron-containing [illegible] in the diet. Burning of the tongue is an outstanding symptom of this disorder.

Excessive smoking, eating irritating foods, and drinks may also affect the tongue.

In some few cases, a disturbance may be produced by electric currents set up where unlike metals were used in making dentures.

Local inflammation of mucous membrane such as jagged and irregular teeth may be responsible for the burning sensation of the tongue. Frequently the burning sensation of the tongue is associated with the change of life.

A fairly large number of patients have the disturbance because of an insufficiency or thickening of the saliva. Dryness of the mouth is an accompanying symptom. Some of these patients are heavy smokers, and it is felt that smoking may be a contributing cause.

But here is good news. In this disorder it has been found that the use of a drug known as neostigmine taken three times daily after meals is quite helpful, since it seems to stimulate the salivary secretion. Within a few days, the burning of the tongue and dryness of the mouth clear up. The patient is also advised to take large amounts of fluids, and, if smoking is thought to be a contributing cause it should be stopped.

In every case of burning tongue a thorough examination by the physician is advisable.

Questions and Answers

M C: What causes dark circles under the eyes?

Answer: Circles under the eyes are usually caused by what is known as unbalancing of the water absorption and output. It has no particular significance from the standpoint of health. However these circles sometimes come from lack of rest and sleep.

BASING POINT PRICE SYSTEM ATTACKED

CLEVELAND Dec 28—(INS)—Government's stand against industry's basing point price system was under the fire today of two leading industrialists who termed it a "serious threat to American free enterprise."

Denouncing the government's stand were Norman W Foy, general sales manager of Republic Steel in Cleveland, and John S. Conant, general purchasing agent for Willys-Overland in Toledo.

This was the highlight of opening sessions of the American marketing association's winter convention in Cleveland yesterday. The A.M.A. is meeting concurrently with the American Economic association, the American Statistical association and 11 allied organizations representing "learned societies."

Industry's concern over the basing point arises from the assumption that the supreme court's decision in the Cement Institute case has forced the steel industry to drop its price system in favor of F O B mill prices.

The result, industry states, is to thrust the weight of transportation charges upon the customer.

Foy charged that the ruling would deny to steel producers the right to compete for business wherever they might find it. He added that this right is the foundation of free enterprise.

Conant said that the American people have a right to examine such issues so that they may not be restricted in their political, economic or religious freedoms. He added that the real problem is the "current usurpation of legislative power by the federal trade commission."

Some 2,000 delegates are attending the convention.

CHECK FOREST BURGLARY

KENTON—Hardin county Sheriff R. R Clark is directing investigation of the burglary of the Basinger jewelry store in Forest sometime Christmas eve. Entrance was gained by breaking a rear window, and the burglars left through a back door. Loot consisted of about $7 in change, radios, costume jewelry, pen and pencil sets and used watches.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I TURNED [illegible] as I made my formal request of Jan and walked toward the corridor leading to her room as rapidly as possible. The heavy solemnity and super dignity with which she was playing her role as nurse were upsetting my insides and I wanted to get back my own dignified pose as hospital head before Faith should see my "Mona Lisa" face."

Of course I realized that outsiders might not be amused at the pretense might even consider her a "brash brat," but I banished that thought quickly. To the members of her family, she was irresistibly laughable and adorable.

She was close behind me as I reached the door but when I had closed it after us, I found her a trifle breathless.

"Oh, Mums, how am I doing?" she asked all her pose thrown to the winds, and I [illegible] to kiss her wistful questioning face.

"Splendidly," I told her with emphasis. "Now, I'll tell you what I want you to do."

"Please, first, may I ask one question?" she said and I knew from experience what it would be.

"Yes go on," I told her.

"We're not playing nurse just now, are we?"

"No, not while we're by ourselves," I assured her. "That would be silly."

"Of course," she assented. "Well, then, do you think I could know about that errand Jun and Rod are going to do for you down on the farm? I really wouldn't be playing nurse out there would I, and perhaps I could help them with the other job."

"Perhaps you could," I said. "But," I added firmly, "I couldn't possibly tell you anything about it now. There isn't time. Aunt Katharine is depending on you to take care of Daddy. Now listen carefully while I tell you what I want you to do."

She turned an attentive face to mine, while I told her of the wish of the boys to leave their father alone for short intervals so that he would not get tired.

"I am sure he would never consent to their plan if they asked him," I said. "But if you as nurse, tell them they must go over in the window seat and play games or read while he closes his eyes and rests, he will not disobey you."

"I know he won't," she said confidently. "But how often must I tell them?"

"Tell them the first time in fifteen minutes after you look at the clock on the mantel in the living room. Then keep them [illegible] away for ten minutes. At [illegible] send them away [illegible] minutes. Then keep them away [illegible] until Aunt Katharine comes back. Do you understand?"

"Yes, I do pretty nearly," she said. "Let me say it [illegible] please."

She repeated correctly the instructions I had given her and then gave me a steady look.

"I'm all ready now," she said. "I shan't forget."

I knew you won't," I said, and sent her back to the living room. She went through with her new role with ludicrous gravity, and amused her father most efficiently when he objected to the [illegible] hearing him. But the boys were on their third ten minute ban shment when the knocker sounded.

"There's Aunt Katharine now," Mary said. "I know her knock. Shall I go to the door?"

Sumner Welles Needed

IT GOES without saying that Sumner Welles has his countrymen's best wishes in his fight for life. He has had a long and distinguished career in public service; he has earned the best wishes of those whom he served.

But there is still another reason why they wish Mr. Welles may recover from his near-fatal experience of last Saturday night. It's possible he may be able to find the reason why his friend, Laurence Duggan, was found dead a few days ago. It's possible that something about Mr. Welles' own harrowing experience since then may have bearing on events which certainly aren't self-explanatory and which aren't adequately explained by any of the explanations offered so far.

It's even possible that sooner or later there may be discovered a clue that will lead to the solution of the key mystery of them all: why are so many people so anxious to hush up the inquiry into events in the U.S. state department 10 years ago?

Kremlin Reactionaries

HUNGARIAN Communists have arrested Josef Cardinal Midszenty as part of their cleanup of "clerical reaction." The cardinal is accused of espionage, treason and black market currency dealings.

"Clerical reaction" is an ironic phrase in the mouth of a Balkan stooge of the Kremlin. History will judge that the great crime of the Communists in the 20th century was political reaction, foisted off on the gullible under such false labels as "dictatorship of the proletariat."

Communism cannot tolerate religion, because the Communist dictators claim absolute authority over all thought and action. By the same token, religion cannot tolerate communism, though some religionists have not grasped this point quickly. Cardinal Midszenty obviously has grasped it. Otherwise, he would never have been chosen to do penance for the most serious crime there can be against the Communist credo: acknowledgement of a higher authority in the lives of human beings than a committee of politicians in the Kremlin, the most reactionary group in the modern world.

A Great Idea

THERE is understandable public interest in the expense-account device proposed for boosting top official salaries without turning over part of the boost to the bureau of internal revenue. This looks like a great idea that would prove appealing to millions of breadwinners.

In the case of the Chief Executive, a civil service subcommittee of the house would add $25,000 to the present $75,000 salary. This would be subject to income taxes. But another $50,000 would be added in the form of additional expense money, and this would be tax-free. This should make it possible for the President of the United States to meet the cost of running the White House without using any of his own salary. The same proposal would raise the salaries of the vice president and speaker of the house from $20,000 to $30,000, plus $10,000 expense accounts.

The same kind of device has gone into general use in top-notch private employment. It is one of a number of ways and means being developed in the United States to circumvent heavy income taxes. One of these recently has been getting attention in the radio entertainment industry, which has discovered how to give star talent an income break by purchasing the talent outright, instead of making contracts for terms of service.

The public is interested. It too would like to escape income taxes by some legal device—say a tax-free expense account of $3,000 a year per family head, plus tax-free perquisites, plus about $3,000 in actual income taxable at the going rate for that amount.

No Cost Too High

THE ATTEMPT to rescue U.S. aviators stranded on a Greenland icecap will become, if it hasn't become already, one of the costliest of all missions of mercy. But no one would have it any other way.

In war and in peace there is an American credo that the lives of those who serve their country are beyond price. It has cost untold sums of money to make the credo stand trial—precautions, rescue expeditions when precautions failed, the "last search" that so often proves to be the successful one.

This part of the American way of life—this placing of premium value on the lives of individuals. If it became necessary to melt that Greenland ice cap with blow torches to get the stranded aviators back to safety—and it could be done—there would be no dissent to the proposition that it should be undertaken without delay.

Did You Know

The rate of scrapping motor vehicles in the United States from 1942 through 1946 was only 40 per cent of the rate at which they were scrapped in the 1937-1941 period.

It cost $138 in special federal, state and local taxes to buy a new car and operate it one year. Federal excises on cars, tires, gasoline and oil take $95 of the total.

Not To Be Pooh-Poohed

Labor Union Leaders View Communist Threat

WASHINGTON

REVELATION by a congressional committee that there were 20 CIO unions in 1944 in which the Communists were "strongly entrenched" and that in some of these Communists are "still in the saddle" today may come as a surprise to the rank and file of workers in America who sometimes pooh-pooh such accusations as baseless. But the evidence is accumulating that the Communists are active in taking over unions which in the event of war would be in a position "to wreck the whole U. S. fighting power."

Some factories making important parts for new weapons and other military equipment are actually controlled now by Communist unions.

Fortunately, there are in the American labor movement leaders who do not pooh-pooh these charges, though it is significant that it took revelations by congressional committees before the CIO executives acted to purge itself of such organizations at the top level as the greater New York CIO council, which is described by the house committee as "the key unit in the whole Communist program."

• • •

THE FACT that workers are organized into unions for legitimate purposes make it easier for Communists to infiltrate. The customary tactics are to preach class warfare and class consciousness. This is what deceives so many worker who think that the Communists can be watched and yet be helpful to them in pressing for trade-union objectives.

A most intresting comment on the situation inside the American labor movement has just appeared in the current issue of the quarterly magazine "Foreign Affairs," published by the council of foreign relations, a group of Americans of prominence who have long been interested in foreign-policy questions. The article in question was written by David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union and a vice president of the AFL. He writes:

"Precisely because the Communists place the capture and control of the trade unions as the first prerequisite for foisting their dictatorship on any industrial country, it is imperative for the Democratic trade unions of all countries to pool their resources and join forces in the protection and promotion of their welfare and liberties.

• • •

"WHETHER THE Communists call their world organization and central bureau profintern or W.F.T.U., whether they call it comintern or cominform, they never lessen the activitity of their armies of agentes, propagandists, party members and fellow-travelers.

"Whether a Communist party in any country calls itself by that name or some other name, whether a 'front' organization calls itself the 'League Against War and Fascism' one day or the 'American Peace Mobilization' the next, the essential characteristic of all these organizations as segments of an international movement for Bolshevik world domination does not change.

"The lesson must be reiterated: the attempt to work with Communists is futile folly. The lesson applies to trade unions, to other organizations and to individuals. When working with Communists for a good cause we hurt that cause, because it is sure to be used by them as an instrument for achieving their own different aims.

"This is confirmed by Stalin himself in his 'Foundations of Leninism' when he says 'A revolutionist (Communist) may sponsor a reform because he sees in it a means for linking up constitutional action with unconstitutional action, because he feels he can make use of it as a screen behind which he can strengthen his clandestine work.'

• • •

"COLLABORATION by trade unions and liberals with Communists serves only to provide them with a means of deception and with prestige which they subsequently exploit for party purposes.

"This has been our experience in the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, as head of the CIO, John L. Lewis had considerable and costly experience of this sort. Philip Murray's experience as head of CIO bears out this truth. The leaders of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers—the late Sidney Hillman and his co-workers—once believed they could work with the Communists in the American Labor party. But though they have remained faithful to Mr. Hillman, these trade unionists have had to withdraw from the American Labor party on the grounds that it is a Communist party auxiliary. Henry Wallace in the so-called Progressive party is today in the stage where Lewis and Hillman once were. The question arises: must trade unionists and liberals burn their fingers badly before learning this incontrovertible lesson? Was it really necessary to go through this very expensive experience of collaborating with the Communists first in the CIO and then in the W.F.T.U.?"

• • •

MR. DUBINSKY has been a leader in the effort to persuade certain CIO leaders and the British trade union congress to abandon the "World Federation of Trade Unions" which is being charged with Communist control or domination. Mr. Dubinsky adds:

"So long as the British Trade Union Congress and the American CIO remain in the world federation they are in the very uncomfortable position of seeming to sponsor, in the international field, the very practices which they bitterely fight at home. Both organizations have hitherto denied this. But it is solely because of their association with the Communist unions in the World Federation that they have been lukewarm to the idea of an energetic international drive to smash the Communist campaign against the economic recovery program (Marshall Plan).

It is not generally known perhaps but the American Federation of Labor has at no time fallen for the wiles of the Communists and, on the contrary, the AFL has behind the scenes supported the efforts of the house committee on unAmerican activities to expose the truth about Communistic infiltration into American Trade Unions. Likewise, the AFL has again and again publicly denounced Communists, whereas, as Mr. Dubinsky points out, the CIO has often temporized with the issue. Were it not for the vigilance of congressional committees for the last 10 years, many of the facts concerning Communist control and domination of key unions in the United States would still be unknown.

Call for New Committee

By Raymond Moley

AFTER the cruel mess that Congressman Mundt made of the death of Laurence Duggan, congressional as well as general public opinion is going to demand a new sort of un-American activitises committee or no committee at all. This affair brings to light once more all the defects which have attended the committee's activities from the beginning. It is not mere procedure that needs to be changed. A good committee creates good procedure. The matter goes back to personnel and facilities for investigation.

The investigation, disclosure and correction of a situation in which personal guilt, bad practices and inadequate laws are involved requires very special competence. Outstanding congressional investigations such as the Teapot Dome affair show that. It is shown, too, by such local investigations as Maurice Milligan's probe of the Pendergast machine in Kansas City, Samuel Seabury's raking of Tammany and Thomas E. Dewey's exposure of racketeering in New York City.

• • •

IN ALL THESE instances a strong, systematic and meticulously careful lawyer spearheaded the investigation. Mountains of evidence must be gathered, sifted and pieced together. A vast amount of gossip, rumor and surmise must be considered but verified.

Anyone who has been in such an investigation or who has worked in an ordinary prosecutor's office learns how loosely character assassination is always drifting around. Crackpots of all sorts come in with weird stories about most reputable and innocent people.

Such victims must be protected in the strict confidence of the investigators. Names must not be brought into public hearings unless they are vitally necessary to the objective sought. The investigators must always consider how the irresponsible elements of the press will blow up a casual inference into a damning and lasting smear of innocent people. The major objective must be pursued inexorably, and all interesting but irrelevant detours must be avoided.

• • •

ALL THIS REQUIRES great legal ability and strict centralized control by a strong man. The late Thomas J. Walsh, Milligan, Seabury and Dewey were such investigators.

The present un-American activities committee is headed by an insurance broker. There seem to be only four lawyers among the members, and the two who appear to have had any considerable experience in the law have been somewhat inactive. The chief investigator, Robert Stripling, is not a lawyer. Mundt seems to have spent most of his non-political life in such specialties as speech and social science teaching, fish and game, loan and investments.

The evidence of gross lack of preparation of cases by the committee is spread all through the record. Its work has always been scattered. And since the physical and legal difficulties of Thomas, the committee has been virtually headless.

Thus un-manned and undirected, its members have been running in all directions. It is no wonder that such a careening vehicle has hit innocent bystanders. The wonder is that there have been so few casualties.

This government is entitled to better service or none at all.

Clues Value Lost

ROCKLAND, Me.—(AP)—Three silver dollars—a rarity here—were among $500 stolen from a store. Police Chief George Shaw alerted his force to watch for anyone passing silver dollars. Two days later silver dollar clues became worthless. A local concern included 600 of them in its 23 employes' pay envelopes.

Post-election Voices

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Dec. 28, 1938.

A new low temperature for the season, five degrees below zero, struck Marion as a severe cold wave continued.

Edward J. Ruzzo, Marion attorney, was elected president when the Marion chapter of the Lions club was organized at Hotel Harding. Fifty members made up the charter list.

George A. Bowman, head of the Lakewood, O., public schools, and former superintendent of the Marion public schools, was elected president of the Ohio Education association at the closing session of the seventeenth annual holiday meeting at Columbus. Mr. Bowman is now president of Kent State university.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van Houten of Congress street and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Otto P. Bereit of Vernon Heights.

The ninth annual dance of St. Mary Alumni association was held in the Elks' hall. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. John Parish, chairman, Miss Valeska Rush, Miss Rosemary Werley, Miss Margretta Lieberenz, Gene Gunder and William Drake.

Galion's building trade during 1938 amounted to $250,000, a check-up disclosed. There were 101 building permits issued at the city hall. Eighteen new homes were built, six of them ranging between $5,000 and $15,000 and the remainder costing between $3,000 and $5,000. Approximately $35,000 was spent in remodeling residences and apartments.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Dec. 28, 1928.

Mayor Earl Hazen was in a critical condition at his home on Oak street as a result of a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been in failing health for several months.

Miss Alice Schott resumed her duties as a student nurse at Bethesda hospital in Cincinnati after spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Schott of Olney avenue.

William T. Smith, 60, died at his home near Richwood of concussion of the brain caused by an accident in Richwood at the Gill coal yard.

Mrs. Pauline E. Ackerman, 55, died at her home on East Center street.

Mrs. J. W. Ewers of East Center street entertained members of the Woman's Home circle at a theater party and luncheon.

Miss Ardell Bohler was hostess to the Three D's club at her home on East Church street.

Civil War in Germany

By Walter Lippmann

SINCE our elections I have been on a tour of western Europe and of Germany which took me from Madrid to Berlin and Frankfurt, from Rome to Bern and Geneva and then to Paris and London.

The hardest but the most important question to answer is what is going to happen if the present stalemate continues, for it is the generally accepted view that there is no near prospect of a full-scale, organized war. On the other hand, there is no prospect of a settlement.

Our European policies are based on the idea that this condition of affairs can continue, that it is not necessary to fight nor necessary to negotiate, and that in this state of chronic crisis a western European system can in the course of years be created with its frontiers on the Elbe River, and with an outpost at the Potsdammer Platz in the heart of Berlin.

But something quite different is, so it seems to me, likely to happen. The issues arise out of the military partition of Germany and, therefore, of Europe.

Since the soldiers cannot settle the issues by a war and the diplomats cannot settle them by the cold war, the great powers are rapidly losing control of them. The international conflict over the destiny of Germany is becoming an internal German conflict which will certainly affect deeply, and may decide, the destiny of Europe.

Berlin Hardest Hit

This development is most evident because it is most acute, in Berlin. I do not think anyone knows what would happen in Berlin if the Germans start rioting and fighting in the streets as their condition becomes more desperate, as the Russian and the British-American propaganda machines permit and even encourage increasing incitements to hatred and violence.

The Germans in Berlin are well along on the road to a civil war and the rest of Germany is already on the same road.

Here, I think, is the real danger to which we should address ourselves; that, while organized war is not likely to be declared and waged, a German civil war could develop and we may all be sucked into it.

There is much more to be said about the ominous condition of Germany, and in my next article I shall come back to it.

The reader will first wish to know what reason there is for the statement that overt organized war is not now in prospect. All I can say is that in all the countries I visited I talked with men who would have direct and high personal responsibility if war broke out.

They were unanimous in saying that there are no signs of the buildup of fuel, transport and munitions which would be necessary if the Red army were now preparing to invade western Europe and that they were confident that the intelligence service of the many nations concerned were good enough not to be deceived.

They added that there was some positive evidence to support the negative finding: that the Russians have not replaced the railway tracks, which are of great strategic value, that they tore up and carted off to the Soviet Union as war booty.

Russian Strength

No one, of course, doubts that the Russians have a mobile striking force in eastern Germany which is quite sufficient to crush the air lift and to overrun the Ruhr.

But while this force could win the first battle, it could not win a war. It is, I think, the generally accepted view that had the Russian command been intending a blitzkrieg, it would have struck last summer when our capacity to retaliate sharply was considerably less than it is now and will be next summer.

In fact, however exasperating the Soviet diplomacy, the Russian high command has—I was told on excellent authority — been very circumspect. There has been no interference with the air lift.

Moreover, when the blockade was imposed, the Russian troops in Berlin were raw recruits from the more primitive tribes within the U. S. S. R. They were replaced, while the diplomatic tension was mounting, by highly disciplined troops who have behaved, sometimes under great provocation by Germans in Berlin, so as to avoid dangerous incidents.

I tried to learn what I could about German military forces under Soviet control.

In the Soviet zone of Germany there is the Volkspolizei—"People's Police" — which is being trained by Gen. von Seydlitz and other German officers. It is armed with light weapons, and according to our information it is composed of ex-Nazis from the Gestapo and Hitler's Stormtroopers.

This force will have to be taken very seriously in the negotiations about Germany as a whole. The Russians may be willing to talk about it as an essential element of a treaty which regulates military power. For there is reason to think that they must know that they could not rely upon these dangerous men.

No Permanent Relief

About the blockade, the air lift, and the division of Berlin, we must have no illusions. The air lift is an impressive operation, in all respects creditable to the air force and to the pilots and crews who take part in it.

But as an instrument of the policies of Mr. Marshall and Mr. Bohlen, it must be said, I think, that it is subject to the law of diminishing returns, that the longer it continues the less useful it becomes.

For it is not true that the western sectors of Berlin can be supplied by the air lift indefinitely. They can be fed. But the factories are working a 20-hour week, and when the new air fields being built for the air lift are completed, there will be much unemployment in Berlin.

"I got it for Christmas!"

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Plea to a Christmas Tree

Keep that spell, Christmas tree. Christmas is gone, the glitter and glow of Christmas day is fading, but don't weaken. Try to hang on.

• • •

Last night you looked your loveliest. You were dreamy in spots. It was then that the deep and abiding beauty that was yours in the slowly breaking dawn of Christmas morning. There is nothing quite like that in all the universe. It brought to children's eyes the light that mirrors faith, love and wonder, more so than anything else can. The light that would end hate, envy, wickedness, selfishness and war. It lightened the hearts of mom and pop, bringing them closer together, and it gave glorious old grandma that golden smile reflecting memories of bygone Christmas seasons.

• • •

Even the pooch and the cat nestled at your foot, victims of your magic. Your lights warmed the heart of the passerby on the snow road, cheering tramp and prodigal. The old folks got a kick out of readying you up the night before and they were as children again, experiencing all the joys of Clement Moore's "A Visit From St. Nicholas." Christmas day and Christmas night you were the Eighth Wonder, the miracle come true. Sunday you did pretty well too.

• • •

But with the week after Christmas there's a lessening of your influence, more's the pity. The kids began to take you for granted. The elders yawn. Mom begins to fret about the way the needles are falling all over the floor and father, for the first time, frets over the fire menace. Here and there a bulb is out, and nobody minds. Broken candy canes goes unreplaced. A missing cornucopia fails to bring dismay.

• • •

Life is like that. Humans can cling to a great spell for only a little while. So do your stuff, Christmas tree! Don't relax! Keep trying!

• • •

Yours is a short life and in a few more days love and devotion will fade before indifference and the old routines. Mankind is that way all over. It must shock you no little, Christmas tree. But you can cling to our hearts another week, if you will. It will take courage and backbone.

• • •

We wish you could stay there in the living room always...certainly for another month. You did something to the hearts of everyone. You symbolized the minutest faith of childhood, the love of man for fellowman, the wonderful story of Bethlehem. You brought generosity and kindliness. You glorified the Babe of Bethlehem, the Holy Night, the vision of the shepherds, the journeys of the wisemen.

• • •

Stick it out a while longer! Remain with us another week! We're in your corner, rooting and hoping, Christmas tree!

Production is at all-time high in this country. More people can get things they don't need than ever before.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Well, I finally had a chance to get out my sled and go coasting, and I'm not joshing you. Your aunt and I had waited all winter for an excuse to have a snow picnic and we wasted no time. I always hesitate to admit we are a couple of old fools, but the fact is we are and that we have more fun being foolish than most people have being sane.

We took the big wooden sled that you used to slide on and a basket of provisions and went out to the big hill back of Charley Shriver's barn. Charley and his wife liked the idea so much they joined us. I didn't measure it but after Charley and I got a track started we must have been able to coast nearly a quarter of a mile.

The only concession I make to advancing years is no more belly-slammers. Instead, I lie down on the sled and let gravity take its course, as it soon does on a hill as steep as that. Also, as you recall the old sled has footholds on it, which makes it possible for two to ride on it sitting down, as well as the customary double headers in prone position.

It didn't take much of that sort of thing to hone our appetites, and we had one of our best picnics when it got dark—sirloin steaks broiled over charcoal, baked potatoes, toasted buns with cherry preserves and some of the world's finest coffee. Sometime I intend to invent a way to make coffee taste that good cooked over a stove indoors. It's my theory that the smoke has something to do with it, like the flavor of country-cured ham. All I have to do is to learn how to bottle the smoke flavor and I'll have made another fortune—approximately my 200th one.

The Shrivers are good company. They confessed to a weakness for winter picnics themselves, though they had kept it a secret because the neighbors would have raised their eyebrows. But they do one thing that would be too much for us, I'm afraid. On Sunday mornings in winter they sometimes have a picnic breakfast after the chores are done. They claim it's a wonderful way to start the day, but I'm afraid it would make me so sleepy I wouldn't be worth anything the rest of Sunday.

We've enjoyed our Christmas cards even more than usual this year because we've had so many unusual ones—original ideas that belong exclusively to the people who thought them up. Have you seen the Christmas letter from the Stuarts? They outdid themselves this time—two-single-spaced pages of details about their experiences since last Christmas. They're going to have another baby, the fifth. And they've built a wing on the old house to take care of the crowd. Isn't it a pity that everybody can't have as much pleasure out of being alive as that family seems to have? Even their difficulties seem to get converted somehow into delightful experiences. When you wish them a happy new year, you feel like saying, "I know you'll have one anyway." That's all for this time.

Coal Absenteeism Cuts Smokes

By The Associated Press

OXFORD, ENGLAND—"An improvement of only one per cent in the absenteeism rate in British coal mines would give us an increase of around two million tons of coal a year," Alfred Robens, Parliamentary secretary to the ministry of fuel, said in a speech here.

"Every ton of coal exported brings us enough foreign exchange to buy 123 gallons of petrol or 10,000 cigarets from the U.S.A.," he added. If Britain can exceed her coal export target this year the secretary raised the hope that "little extras" might be possible."

OHIO SAVINGS INTEREST PAID

Loan League Official Reports Semi-Annual Payments of $37,500,000.

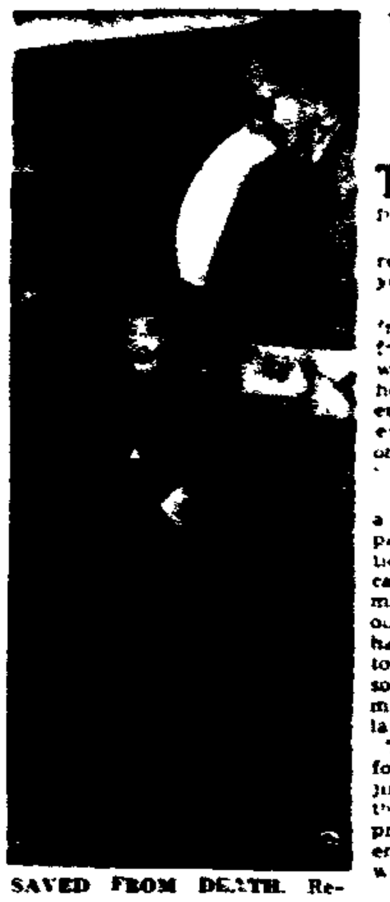

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28—A big melon of $37,500,000 is being cut for the benefit of holders of savings accounts in Ohio Savings and Loans according to Don L. Tobin of Columbus, executive secretary of the Ohio Savings and Loan League. Savings and loans are now in the process of completing the distribution of earnings for the second semi-annual period of 1948. These earnings in the form of interest and dividends are being paid in cash or credited to the accounts of almost two million Ohioans with savings invested in savings and loans.

The year 1948 saw the total savings invested in Ohio savings and loans reach a new peak. In addition to an increase in the average amount of savings accounts a new peak was reached in the number of savers. New loans made to builders and purchasers of Ohio homes were approximately $500,000,000 during the year just closing Mr. Tobin said. This represented almost 100,000 individual home purchases. Ohio Savings and Loans maintained their dominant position in the field of home mortgage lending by making more non-farm mortgage loans of $20,000 and less than all other types of lenders combined.

The emphasis placed by Ohio Savings and Loans on the financing of homes costing $10,000 and less is reflected in the average amount of loan for the year. In spite of increased construction costs, the average loan made by these institutions during the year increased only 1¾ per cent.

At the recent convention of the Ohio Savings and Loan League, held in Cleveland, the industry put itself on record to continue the emphasis on low cost housing throughout 1949.

Md. Tobin states, "Ohio Savings and Loans are in position to furnish adequate financing for the construction industry during the year 1949." He said Ohio Savings and Loans now have over $400,000,000 available to finance the construction and purchase of new homes in 1949. This great amount of funds, plus the continued growth of savings accounts and repayment of existing loans, will be more than adequate for the loan demands of Ohio home owners.

Waning Year Weighed

There was work for almost everyone. There was a jingling in the pockets and many things in the stores to buy. The price tags were high. But at the end of the year the price tags were coming down.

Looking back now, 1948 seems just like Shakespeare's "A Winter's Tale." In the old days families used to gather around the fireside and hear a winter's tale before going to the warmth of bed and sleep. A good winter's tale had some sadness in it, some gladness—and hope at the end. And hasn't 1948 been just that kind of a story too?

It had romance, adventure, death, prosperity, tears—and a great big belly laugh.

IN BRIEF

Everyone got a Valentine thrill out of the wedding between "Bobo" the slagpile Cinderella and young Winthrop Rockefeller.

The heart of boyhood was broken with the death of Babe Ruth victim of one of mankind's oldest enemies. "Black Jack" Pershing dipped his colors and rode off to the endless resting place of all good cavalrymen — "Fiddler's Green."

Two apostles of peace—saintly Mohandas K. Gandhi and Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden—fell to assassin's bullets. The Jew and the Arab played a mortal scrimmage. Communal strife bloodied ancient India.

But out of the deaths of many men in many lands the promise of peace rose higher. It flew chiefly with the thousands of anonymous young British and Americans who fed Berlin with an aerial ladder. And they were the larger heroes of the year, for the signaled that the west would make no second Munich compromise. They were the heralds of a deepening order, a firming principle.

Above all, they were the portents of a new stability that Europe needed above everything else to give it the courage to build anew.

Somewhere unknown to us now a child perhaps was born in 1948 whose memory the earth ... . The mother ... washed well.

Holiday Dinner Held By Whitney Lodge

Following an annual custom members of Whitney Lodge No. 846, Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen met for a Christmas dinner recently. Later there was a gift exchange and cards. The table centerpiece was large sleighs and reindeer and favors were replicas in miniature. A parody on a Christmas poem was read by Mrs. Julia Gandert and in a quiz the award was won by Mrs. Garnet Strickland. In euchre a prize was won by Mrs. Grace Bowser for high score and Mrs. Iona Clark received the lone hand award. A consolation prize was won by Mrs. Johanna Bohler. Mrs. Goldie Sellers, president, was presented a gift by the group. The dinner was in charge of Mrs. Iona Clark chairman, Mrs. Garnet Strickland, Mrs. Marjory Berry, Mrs. Mildred Sidenstricker and Mrs. Natalie Clark.

Nike Bible Class Of Salem Church Meets

Mrs. Christa Keller was hostess to the Nike Bible class of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church Dec. 15 at her home on Forest street. A devotional candlelight service and group singing of Christmas carols opened the meeting and the Christmas story from the book of Luke, was read by Mrs. Frieda Lloyd. Fifteen members were present.

A white gift of money was voted to be sent to Beck Bay Mission at Biloxi, Miss. and plans were made to send a gift for each person at the Upper Sandusky Home for the Aged and to fill a basket for a needy family. The Lord's Prayer by the group closed the meeting.

A Christmas gift exchange was held, guessing boxes were won by Mrs. Margaret Orton and Mrs. Faye Kibling, and a special prize went to Mrs. Lloyd. Decorations throughout the house were in keeping with the Christmas season. Mrs. Sally Keller, a guest assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Some folks wonder how we do it!

And well they may, when they read what's happening to the railroads.

Since 1939 everything the railroads use has gone up nearly 100%. In the meantime, freight rates have increased only 44%; passenger fares even less—about 25%.

How do the railroads do it?

By the wise use of profits and investment—the basis for all progress in America!

In the 30 years since the First World War, the railroads have invested more than 2 dollars in new equipment and improvements, for every 1 dollar paid out to their owners in dividends. As a result, the railroads have kept costs down and do a better job all around. That means a saving for the manufacturer, the supplier and, of course, you, the public.

But that kind of progress can't go on if earnings today are kept too low.

Like other companies, the railroads need a fair profit for the service they perform —because profits provide the money for greater improvements and efficiency. These in turn lead to lower costs not only for those using the railroads, but for everybody! Good as the railroad record has been, it can be even better in the future—but only if railroad incomes are allowed to keep pace with the rising costs of operation. For, remember:

GOOD EARNINGS TODAY
MEAN BETTER SERVICE TOMORROW

We invite you to listen to "The Railroad Hour" Monday nights over A.B.C. 7 to 7:45 P.M. C.S.T., 8 to 8:45 P.M. E.S.T.

KIRWAN TO FETE NEW DEMOCRATIC SOLONS

WASHINGTON, Dec 28—(AP)—Rep Kirwan (D-Ohio) plans to be official host to all new Democratic members of the house, along with leaders of the house and senate, at dinner here next February.

Kirwan told a reporter today he will invite President Truman and other administration leaders to attend.

The Ohioan will give the dinned in his capacity as chairman of the Democratic congressional committee in the house He said he expects an attendance of about 150 persons.

He estimated the cost at from $3,000 to $4,000 and said it will be paid from funds of the committee, contributed to the committee by house members and others

The purpose of the dinner, Kirwan said, is to tell new members "you can come back to congress if you have the pulse of your district—if you know what's going on"

Kirwan said he plans to make the congressional committee more active under his leadership than in the past.

He said he intends to ask the house leadership to provide a permanent committee room in the new house office building and to hold meetings of committee members at least every two weeks,

In prior years the committee—and its Republican counterpart—has been active only in periods prior to congressional elections.

The purpose of it is to get Democrats elected to congress

Kirwan, who succeeded to the chairmanship last year, said that electing Democrats to the house "is a fulltime job We shouldn't attempt to do in three months what should properly take two years"

OLD GUARD TO CUT IN GOP LIBERALS

WASHINGTON Dec 28—(AP)—The senate's Republican leadership gave a little ground today to party rebels with an offer to cut them in on policy making in the new congress

But defeated Senator Ball of Minnesota cautioned against any move to "liberalize" the GOP. Such a step he told a reporter, might alienate the "middle class millions who make up the 'great bulk" of the party's steady supporters

All the evidence, meanwhile, is that both senators Taft of Ohio and Wherry of Nebraska intend to press their efforts to keep their top jobs despite the demands of self-styled liberals for a shakeup in the party's leadership

Taft appears entrenched in his position as chairman of the policy committee Wherry told a reporter he is gaining new support daily in his drive to be named as GOP floor leader, a post he holds on an acting basis in the 80th congress

Insurgents who have been gunning for Taft and Wherry got a peace bid yesterday in a proposal by Senators Brewster of Maine, Bricker of Ohio and Butler of Nebraska to enlarge the nine-member policy committee to 11

Plane Carrying 28 Missing on Flight

MIAMI. Fla. Dec 28—(AP)—A charter airplane with 28 persons on board was missing today on a flight from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Miami An aerial search was under way.

The plane, a twin-engined DC-3 charter craft, carried a crew of three and 25 passengers It was more than five hours overdue at 10 30 a m (EST). Its fuel supply was exhausted about 5 45 a m.

The Coast Guard air-sea rescue service said the last contact with the plane was made by overseas radio at New Orleans at 4 13 a m

The plane at that time gave its position as 50 miles south of Miami Overseas radio, a unit of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, read the position report back to the plane and asked for confirmation No answer was received Continuous calling by radio brought no further response.

FINDS FATHER'S BODY

AKRON, O, Dec. 28—(AP)—The body of Elwin Hunt, 58, was found in his barn at Peninsula last night by his son, Garland Sheriff's Deputy Paul Elio said Hunt's neck appeared to have a severe rope burn, but no rope could be found. Acting Coroner Kent H Harrington ordered the body held for a post mortem.

NEW PEACE RUMORS BLOSSOM IN CHINA

NANKING CHINA Dec 28—(AP)—A new crop of peace rumors blossomed strongly in China's capital today

Several generally placed sources hinted of plans to reorganize the government as a preliminary to a negotiated peace with the Chinese Communists Top officials vehemently denied the reports

Despite denials usually well informed sources insisted they were very certain that important developments looking toward a new national leadership and probably peace could be expected before New Year's day

This is a reversal of the view that was generally accepted yesterday Then almost everyone felt Communist publication of a list of "war criminals" to be punished by a "peoples court" knocked out possibility of peace talk

Today the only thing that appeared fairly certain was that the decision to fight on or permit peace talks rests with President Chiang Kai-shek whose name headed the Communists list of "war criminals"

Chiang is under strong pressure to step down, probably under the excuse of physical ailments This would permit Vice President Li Tsung-jen to take over and explore the possibility of peace talks Similar rumors have arisen periodically for the last six months

Military signs were that Chiang was preparing to fight on, amassing remnants of his once huge armies around Nanking for a final defense along the south bank of the Yangtze river

Hungarians Arrest 10 Other Church Leaders

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, Dec 28—(AP)—Ten top personalities of the Roman Catholic church in Hungary have been arrested with the primate, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty the interior ministry announced today

The ministry announcement said Cardinal Mindszenty, archfoe of the Communist-dominated government, has "confessed his guilt" The government arrested him yesterday on treason charges It said he admitted to "treacherous activities against the people"

(Such announcements of asserted confessions by arrested persons are routine in Communist-controlled countries as a preliminary to trial or conviction.)

He did not specify what leaders he referred to or say what overtures may have been made to the United States.

Under pressure from newsmen as to what leaders the President had in mind, Ross held a consultation with Mr. Truman, and reported afterwards:

"He doesn't intend to name them. I just talked to him."

This, too, would seem to limit the Ruhr basic products to the ERP which Russia and its satellites have boycotted.

Offered Presidency Of Baldwin-Wallace

BEREA, O., Dec. 28—(UP)—Dr. John L. Knight, chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan university at Lincoln, has been offered the presidency of Baldwin-Wallace college, it was learned today.

Dr. Knight, an ordained Methodist minister, appeared before the Baldwin-Wallace board of trustees Dec. 11. It was learned. The board refused to comment today on the reported selection of the 53-year-old educator as president but said an announcement would be made soon after Jan. 1.

Baldwin-Wallace has had an acting president since the retirement of Dr. Lewis C. Wright last summer.

Why not another Marshall plan
We all would back with pride,
Instead of making roads so long,
Let's make them twice as wide.

Your Gas Supply is getting better!

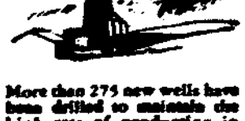

Because

Compared to last year, The Columbia Gas System has been able to place more gas in underground storage through the Summer.

The pipelines which carry gas from the Southwest to the System's lines have been able to increase their capacity and deliver more gas to us.

More than 275 new wells have been drilled to maintain the high rate of production in the Appalachian gas fields.

Columbia spent about $50,000,000 in the last 12 months constructing new facilities to handle these new gas supplies.

But

You, the public we serve, still want and are using more gas than present transmission facilities can supply during the extremely cold spells of Winter.

There will be industrial curtailments this winter, but there should be enough natural gas to supply all of your homes. However, in the event of unusual conditions, it may again be necessary to ask you to conserve this most convenient of fuels. If we do, we will again, very sincerely, say "Thank You" for your willing co-operation.

Meanwhile

The Columbia Gas System companies and their suppliers of Southwest gas are continuing to build more lines, more compressor stations, greater storage capacity for an even greater service to you as fast as steel becomes available and other conditions permit.
